NEW BATTLELINE IN MIDDLE EAST FORMS AFTER FALL OF IRAQ

By the Associated Press
British, victorious in Iraq, draw new Middle East battleline; conquest of Crete gives Axis new springboard for battle of eastern Mediterranean; French-British relations strained anew by bombardment of Tunisian port.

Commander of Allied forces in Crete, Major General B. C. Freyberg, is alive and with his troops, London war office says, contradicting Nazi report of flight and death.

Wild disorder is reported in Baghdad as British forces enter outskirts of Iraq capital; Baghdad committee sues for peace with Britain; Premier Rashid Ali Al Gailani said to have fled to Iran, taking King Feisal, 6, with him; Iraqis says British beaten back north and south of Baghdad.

Nazi bombers strike at Liverpool and other British targets; 52 killed and 100 to 200 injured as unidentified planes drop three bombs on neutral Dublin.

Authoritative Washington quarters report United States will notify France that acts, not words, will be basis of American judgment on French-German collaboration; Senator Norris suggests main body of U. S. fleet be shifted from Pacific to Atlantic.

British naval officer declares sunken German battleship Bismarck was a 50,000-ton super-dreadnaught, largest battleship in world; Nazi survivors reach English port.

WILD DISORDER IS REPORTED IN CITY OF BAGHDAD

By the Associated Press
London, May 31.—Iraq's 29-day, Nazi-supported war against British collapsed today, and the nation's little army, deserted by its military dictator, sued for an armistice.

British troops advancing from the west through the legendary site of the Garden of Eden are in control of Baghdad's suburbs, and advance units already may have gone into the ancient city itself.

Authorized British spokesmen said the request for an armistice presumably had been granted, and that, "as between ourselves and the rebels, the whole thing is over."

London Concedes Situation on the Island is Critical

London, May 31.—(P)—Britons steeled themselves today for news of disaster—the loss of Crete—but there was little definite information in London as to the fate of the British-Greek defenders of that vital little island.

Authoritative quarters conceded the situation in Crete was "delicate," but declared that "whatever happens, our course there has been justified."

Fierce fighting still was said to be going on around Candia, the island's largest city, which the British maintain they still hold despite German claims that it is in Nazi hands.

(The German High Command reported yesterday that Candia had fallen to Nazi forces Thursday.)

All sources here brushed aside questions about possible British withdrawal from Crete, which Prime Minister Churchill said May 7 would be defended "to the death."

There was increased speculation as to a possible withdrawal, however, after the British Broadcasting Corporation broadcast references to "British soldiers and airmen who have returned to Egypt from Crete."

The London press took a dark view of the situation but paid tribute to the resistance offered by British forces.

Berlin, May 31.—(P)—Some of the British defenders of Crete have fled to the island of Gavdos, 25 miles off the south coast, and are being pounded by the Nazi air force, the German High Command announced today.

The Luftwaffe also was pounding the south coast ports of Crete itself from which, the High Command said, other remnants of the British troops were attempting to flee.

The main German forces on Crete were pressing along the northern coastal plain from the west, pursuing "the defeated enemy," the High Command said. They expected to effect a juncture shortly with Italian troops moving from the eastern end of the island.

Already the German columns have relief paratroopers established near Candia, it was stated.

Brief Associated Press News Dispatches

Singapore, May 31.—(P)—British and Thai (Siamese) representatives arranged today for at least partial resumption of petroleum sales to Thailand by British and possibly, United States oil companies, after a lapse of almost two years. Shell, Standard Oil and Texaco had withdrawn from the Thailand market because of the stringency of the kingdom's oil control regulations.

London, May 31.—(P)—German raiders swept over a Welsh town this morning and dropped a number of bombs which did extensive damage in a residential section.

London, May 31.—(P)—Hugh Walpole, English novelist, was reported "slightly improved" today after suffering a severe heart attack at his home.

London, May 31.—(P)—Little, dark-skinned former King Prajadhipok of Siam (now Thailand), who spent $5,000,000 a year to maintain an elaborate court as the last absolute ruler of the Far East Kingdom, died of heart disease early today at his Surrey estate.

Washington, May 31.—(P)—A suggestion that the administration give "serious consideration" to shifting the main body of the fleet from the Pacific to the Atlantic was advanced today by Senator Norris (Ind-Neb).

Vichy, Unoccupied France, May 31.—(P)—Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan accused Britain today of "waging a war of piracy" against France.

Indianapolis, May 31.—(P)—Mauri Rose and Floyd Davis will be listed as co-winners of the 29th annual 500-mile Memorial Day automobile race, Indianapolis Speedway officials announced today.

BALBOA, Panama Canal Zone, May 31.—(P)—United States army headquarters issued a blanket order today barring all unauthorized persons from pier areas at Panama Canal terminals here and at Cristobal. Officials said the move was not linked directly with the sabotage vigil in the United States, but conceded it was part of a "general tightening up."

By the Associated Press
"All quiet" was the word today from defense factory and waterfront, power and oil field, but watchful soldiers, police and civilians continued an alert patrol against any hint of the sabotage which an undercurrent of rumor had predicted for Memorial Day.

The guards were called to duty yesterday at strategic centers throughout the nation, apparently as a result of telephoned warnings from the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington. But the only reported result was the arrest of a man caught crawling through a fence at an ordnance plant in Milan, Tenn.

Military officers did not comment on the source of orders for the alert, but civilian authorities in several communities said the FBI had recommended extraordinary vigilance during the holiday weekend. Many defense factories were closed for the holiday period, but the patrols were not confined to such premises.

There were guards on the international bridge at Laredo, Texas; and the Delaware river bridge at Philadelphia; visitors were barred from the Lake Washington ship canal in Seattle; Naval vessels augmented the harbor patrol at New London, Conn., and armed guards watched the Huntington Beach oil fields in southern California.

President Pro Tempore of The Senate Says Number Of Arguments Expected Next Week Will Delay Finishing of Work of Assembly

RECONVENES MONDAY

Harrisburg, May 31.—(P)—Senator Charles H. Ealy (R-Somerset) predicted today the 1941 Pennsylvania legislature would adjourn finally by June 12.

Ealy, the president, pro tempore, asserted:

"We should be through by June 12. We could be finished next week but there will be a number of arguments coming up and there's nothing you can do about them."

The assembly returns Monday, the Senate at 3:30 p. m. (EST) and the House at 8 p. m.

The 1941 session started January 7. The House held the $542,000,000 budget in committee for three months. The situation now stands:

1. The general appropriation bill of $188,000,000 can be passed by the Senate by Tuesday. If it moves through this branch without amendments, it goes immediately to the governor for his signature.
2. The Senate also is holding the $131,350,000 relief appropriation for the next two years but could pass it finally by Wednesday.
3. Congressional reapportionment is headed toward a conference committee. The House passed a Senate bill but amended it to suit its terms. The Republican Senate wants to cut Philadelphia and Pittsburgh by one seat each and add another to Luzerne county in order to reduce the state's delegation from 34 to 33 in accordance with the 1940 census. The House suggests combining Berks and Lehigh counties, Bucks and Montgomery, to make two districts where there had been three.

SURVIVORS OF BISMARCK LAND ON ENGLISH SOIL

BY EDDIE GILMORE

An English Post, May 31.—(P)—This is the story of men torn from the ecstasy of victory to the bitterness of defeat—82 haggard survivors of the sunken German battleship Bismarck.

Their grim faces illuminated by flickering lights at the water's edge, they shuffled slowly down a gangplank onto British soil early today, speechless, walking like men dazed.

"That's just it," commented a British officer. "That's the way most of them have acted ever since we dragged them from the water."

They were not talking, not a muttering to one another. With the shock of their experiences in their hollow eyes, they stood ahead or at their own tumbling feet as they stepped onto British soil.

"It's easy to realize their feelings," a British officer said. "They sank the hood, one of the war's greatest prizes, and then lived to be sunk in turn. You know, they went almost all the way toward whole hero, only to have every hope dissipated."

Following Ceremonies in Honor of 2,874 Members Of 28th Who Lost Lives In World War Leaves are Extended 75 Per Cent

GOVERNOR IS SPEAKER

BY DONALD ST. JOHN
Indiantown Gap, May 31.—(P)—Activity at this Pennsylvania military reservation hit a record low ebb today following impressive Memorial Day ceremonies in honor of the 2,874 members of the 28th Division who lost their lives in the World War.

After the ceremonies and a dress review by the 28th Division now in training here, approximately 75 per cent of the 13,000 federalized National Guardsmen left for extended holiday week-ends. Ordinarily no more than 50 per cent are on leave at one time.

Highlights of yesterday's ceremonies was an address by Governor James in which the state executive declared guardsmen may be called upon for further sacrifices in the future.

"We all must be willing to sacrifice that we can continue to enjoy this liberty and way of life," the governor said, adding that he knew "the spirit of sacrifice" would be evident in the organization if it was called upon again.

Describing the 28th Division as "the finest National Guard organization in the United States army," the governor declared that as the state's chief executive he would see to it that civilians did not "shirk" their national defense duties.

"As governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania," he said, "I pledge to these men who are away from home, and on the first line of defense, to do everything in my power that every Pennsylvanian on the home front will carry on and do his share."

Head of Interior Department, Who Has Been Federal Oil Administrator For Years, Receives Title of "Petroleum Coordinator For National Defense" to Keep Gasoline and Oil Flowing to Factories

LIMIT OF AUTHORITY RAISES A NEW ISSUE

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Hyde Park, N. Y., May 31.—(P)—The appointment of Secretary Ickes to the job of keeping gasoline and oil flowing in adequate supply for civilian and defense needs was announced today by the temporary White House.

Ickes, who has been federal oil administrator for years, received the new title of "petroleum coordinator for national defense," President Roosevelt, in a letter dated Wednesday, and announced today, instructed the interior secretary to make "specific recommendations" for "action which is necessary or desirable."

As problems for immediate action the president listed:

1. Development, production and utilization of reserves of crude oil and natural gas that are of "strategic importance both in quality and location."
2. Elimination or reduction of cross hauling of oil products.
3. Expansion of transportation facilities and more efficient use of existing transportation and storage facilities.
4. Balance of refining operations to obtain: Maximum yields of specific products, most economical use of raw materials, and efficient production and distribution.
5. Elimination of the drilling of unnecessary wells in proven fields and of "other unnecessary activities and equipment."

Ickes' recommendations are to be submitted to federal agencies—particularly the Office of Production Management and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, to state officials, and to "any appropriate industry or part thereof."

The appointment gave extra, if belated, weight to Ickes' press conference prediction Thursday that civilians might have to give up Sunday drives and relax their "gasolineless Sunday" of World War (Turn To Page Nine)

Large Crowds of Interested And Grateful Citizens on Hand to View Imposing Parade and Listen to Interesting Program

CALVIN DAY HONORED

Most impressive Memorial Day exercises held here in recent years were conducted yesterday when a crowd of several thousand persons paid tribute to soldier and sailor dead of the community with a parade and exercises at Oakland cemetery. Ideal weather added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The parade, which opened the day's program, moved shortly after ten o'clock from Fourth avenue, going south in Market street to the Hickory street bridge and thence to the G. A. R. stand in Oakland cemetery park.

For the first time since the first World War members of Company I, 112th Infantry, were absent from the procession, being in camp at Indiantown Gap with other units of the 28th Division. Their place in the line of march—as taken by a large delegation of Boy Scouts from various local troops.

In his usual place in the parade, however, was Calvin Day, 100-year-old Civil War veteran, of Russell, who received rounds of applause as the car in which he was riding passed along the streets.

Heading the parade was the grand marshal, Charles E. Ohlin, with his chief of staff, W. E. Yeager, and adjutant, Homer Fitch. Following them were the various participating organizations and the flower bearers. The high school band provided the music for the first division, which included the Boy Scouts, the Civil War veterans, members of the G. A. R. Circle, Spanish-American War veterans and auxiliary, county and city officials, participants in the day's program and members of women's patriotic organizations, all in automobiles.

The second division was headed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Band. It included members of Warren and Clarendon V. F. W. posts, sons and daughters of V. F. W., and the organization's auxiliary.

In the third division, led by the American Legion drum corps, was the Legion firing squad, members of the local Legion post, sons and daughters of Legionnaires, the organization's Legionnaire, Girl Scouts and Girl Reserves. The Salvation Army band and miscellaneous groups concluded the parade.

N. K. Wendelboe, American Legion commander, presided at the exercises at the G. A. R. stand and after giving the history of Memorial Day observances, presented the Rev. S. R. Schieb, who offered the invocation. Following a selection by the V. F. W. band, Earl R. Small told of the record of Warren county's last surviving Civil War veteran, Calvin Day, who took part in the parade but was unable to remain for the exercises.

A selection by a quartet composed of Preston Hoskin, Boyd Sanden, Roger Webster and Walter Irwin sang "Nearer My God To Thee," after which General Lewis O. was read by William Emery, and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was presented by Fred Reitterer, Jr. Another selection by the quartet, "Comrades in Arms," preceded the principal address by the Rev. J. A. Davidson, of the First Baptist church.

Rev. Davidson delivered a very impressive address, telling his listeners that despite present conditions in the world, the future under God's guidance and with the leadership of the great men of (Turn To Page Five)

HIGHWAY ACCIDENTS CLAIM 110

Of Eleven Reported Killed In Pennsylvania Eight of Them Are Victims of Automobiles; Toll in Keystone State is Far Under 40 of a Year Ago, As Officials Caution Safety During Remainder of Weekend

CALIFORNIA LEADS WITH 21 ON THE LIST

By the Associated Press
With two days of holiday activity yet to come, the loss of life in the nation's celebration of Memorial Day rose to 159 today. Holiday accidents left at least 11 persons dead in Pennsylvania, eight of them killed by automobiles as record holiday traffic moved over the state's highways. In addition, two Pennsylvanians met death outside the state and five were killed in pre-holiday mishaps.

The toll is far under the 40 victims of 1936 Pennsylvania mishaps last Memorial Day but this year's extended holiday has two days to run before vacationers dash back to their jobs.

Traffic accidents accounted for 110 of the deaths reported throughout the nation. The National Safety Council predicted that the deaths for the three-day vacation period would top 400 unless motorists and pedestrians exercised extraordinary caution.

Numerous traffic mishaps occurred over the state as motorists flooded the highways. Central Pennsylvania reported an all-time high in travel with automobiles moving bumper to bumper for miles over some roads. Toll collectors at the Carlisle terminus of the turnpike said all records were broken yesterday.

Buses and draftloads out of Philadelphia reported they carried 30 per cent more passengers than last Memorial Day.

Six Burn to Death In Three-Car Crash

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 31.—(P)—Six young people were burned to death last night when the automobile in which they were riding burst into flames following a three-car collision on highway U. S. 12 eight miles east of here.

The victims, all in their teens, were Wells Wood, 18, driver of the car; Dallas Holbrook, 17; Charles Williams, 17; Frances Milan, 18, and Mary Jane Bacilio, 18, all of Kalamazoo, and Felicia Guidice, 16, of Jackson, Mich. They were burned almost beyond recognition.

Another passenger, Ray Williams, 18, a brother of Charles, escaped by crawling through a window. He suffered severe burns.

Four others were hurt, none seriously, in the triple crash, the result, Sheriff Charles Struble said, of Wood's attempt to pass another car.

THREE FAMILIES ARE BEREAVED BY TRUCK CRASH

Waynesburg, May 31.—(P)—Fifteen members of three Green county families, happily en route to a fishing trip along Coal Lick Run on Memorial Day, met tragedy instead when the truck in which they were riding plunged down a 30-foot embankment, killing one child of each family.

The dead: Elizabeth Eleanor Belford, 4, Texanna Dunn, 10, both of Jefferson; Ruth Daugherty, 9, of Mather. Coroner Raymond C. Adamson said they were crushed when the truck rolled over them.

Thomas Belford, father of Elizabeth, safely shielded his nine-month-old son in his arms, but was injured painfully himself. Another son, Thomas Belford, Jr., 19, and his wife, William Daugherty, 12, also required hospital treatment. The other occupants escaped with scratches and bruises.

The party just had left Waynesburg airport, where they attended an air show, and were heading along a narrow dirt road to Coal Lick Run when the accident occurred. The coroner released B. E. Dunn, 38, father of Texanna and driver of the truck, on his own recognizance.

THIRTY DEAD IN RAID ON DUBLIN

Dublin, May 31.—(P)—Thirty persons were killed and between 100 and 200 injured early today in this neutral capital when unidentified planes dropped three bombs, one of which blew out a glass skylight near the front door of the United States legation.

The last suffered in an air raid since the war began.

U. S. Minister David Gray said one of the three bombs dropped this morning fell about a quarter-mile from the legation, but no one inside was hurt.

Anti-aircraft batteries began firing just after midnight, when the planes first were heard. No bombs fell until about 2 a. m. Since only have every hope dissipated."

Defense Note Takes Precedence in Tribute Paid to War Dead in the Keystone State

By the Associated Press
The nation's defense program provided the keynote for Pennsylvania's Memorial Day observance. The theme was echoed throughout the state as thousands joined in military parades and cemetery exercises in tribute to the country's war dead.

Governor James led the observance by reviewing the 28th Division's 12,000 federalized National Guardsmen in their first formal parade at Indiantown Gap where rows of trees were dedicated to memory of the unit's 2,874 members who died in the world war.

Returning to his home town of Mather, K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler Corporation, told a Memorial Day gathering that national morale was of vital importance in an age when "the men in the air, the men in the lines and on the battleships are now more dependent than ever upon the service of supply."

Pleas for co-operation between labor and industry in the country's defense program were voiced by some speakers.

U. S. Senator James J. Davis said at Titusville that there are "serious labor conditions" in America and that "there ought to be a happy relationship between employers and the two labor organizations."

Dr. William Mather Lewis, Pennsylvania selective service director, said at Easton that advisory groups should be formed in each community to help selectees themselves physically before they are called for military service.

Warning Planned for Petain Government

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
Washington, May 31.—(P)—The United States, it was reported in authoritative quarters today, will notify the Petain government within a few days that Vichy's future acts, rather than its words, will be basis for American judgment of Franco-German "collaboration."
The note, to be handed to Gaston Henri-Haye, the French ambassador, will be in the nature of a reply to a formal communication recently received from Vichy. This communication promised that the French fleet and colonies would not be turned over to the Nazis. It also besought sympathetic American understanding of France's position as a conquered, divided and hungry nation.
Secretary Hull is preparing the note, it was learned, on the basis of facts assembled by State Department experts on the known extent of Vichy's "collaboration" with the Axis powers in contrast to France's specific commitments in the armistice pacts.

By EDDIE GILMORE
An English Port, May 31.—(P)—This is the story of men torn from the ecstasy of victory to the bitterness of defeat—82 haggard survivors of the sunken German battleship Bismarck.
Their grim faces illuminated by flickering lights at the water's edge, they shuffled slowly down a gangplank onto British soil early today, speechless, walking like men dazed.
"That's just it," commented a British officer. "That's the way most of them have acted ever since we dragged them from the water."
They were not talking, not even muttering to one another. With the shock of their experiences in their hollow eyes, they stood ahead of their own tumbling feet as they stepped onto British soil.

ACTIVITIES AT INDIANTOWN GAP ARE AT LOW EBB

Following Ceremonies in Honor of 2,874 Members Of 28th Who Lost Lives In World War Leaves are Extended 75 Per Cent

GOVERNOR IS SPEAKER

By DONALD ST. JOHN
Indiantown Gap, May 31.—(P)—Activity at this Pennsylvania military reservation hit a record low today following impressive Memorial Day ceremonies in honor of the 2,874 members of the 28th Division who lost their lives in the World War.
After the ceremonies and a dress review by the 28th Division now in training here, approximately 75 per cent of the 13,000 federalized National Guardsmen left for extended holiday week-ends. Ordinarily no more than 50 per cent are on leave at one time.
Highlights of yesterday's ceremonies was an address by Governor James in which the state executive declared guardsmen may be called upon for further sacrifices in the future.
"We all must be willing to sacrifice that we can continue to enjoy this liberty and way of life," the governor said, adding that he knew "the spirit of sacrifice" would be evident in the organization if it was called upon again.
Describing the 28th Division as "the finest National Guard organization in the United States army," the governor declared that as the state's chief executive he would see to it that civilians did not "shirk" their national defense duties.
"As governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania," he said, "I pledge to these men who are away from home, and on the first line of defense, to do everything in my power that every Pennsylvanian on the home front will carry on and do his share."

THIRTY DEAD IN RAID ON DUBLIN

Dublin, May 31.—(P)—Thirty persons were killed and between 100 and 200 injured early today in this neutral capital when unidentified planes dropped three bombs, one of which blew out a glass skylight near the front door of the United States legation.
The loss of life was the greatest since the war began.
U. S. Minister David Gray said one of the three bombs dropped this morning fell about a quarter-mile from the legation, but no one inside was hurt.
Anti-aircraft batteries began firing just after midnight, when the planes first were heard. No bombs fell until about 2 a. m. Since only (Turn To Page Nine)

SEC. ICKES IS GIVEN HARD JOB

Head of Interior Department, Who Has Been Federal Oil Administrator For Years, Receives Title of "Petroleum Coordinator For National Defense" to Keep Gasoline and Oil Flowing to Factories

LIMIT OF AUTHORITY RAISES A NEW ISSUE

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Hyde Park, N. Y., May 31.—(P)—The appointment of Secretary Ickes to the job of keeping gasoline and oil flowing in adequate needs was announced today by the temporary White House.
Ickes, who has been federal oil administrator for years, received the new title of "petroleum coordinator for national defense." President Roosevelt, in a letter dated Wednesday and announced today, instructed the interior secretary to make "specific recommendations" for "action which is necessary or desirable."
As problems for immediate action the president listed:
1. Development, production and utilization of reserves of crude oils and natural gas that are of "strategic importance both in quality and location."
2. Elimination or reduction of excess hauling of oil products, expansion of transportation facilities, and more efficient use of existing transportation and storage facilities.
3. Balance of refining operations to obtain: Maximum yields of specific products, most economical use of raw materials, and efficient production and distribution.
4. Elimination of the drilling of unnecessary wells in proven fields and of "other unnecessary activities and equipment."
Ickes' recommendations are to be submitted to federal agencies—particularly the Office of Production Management and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, to state officials, and to "any appropriate industry or part thereof."
The appointment gave extra, if belated, weight to Ickes' press conference prediction Thursday that civilians might have to give up Sunday drives and return to "gasoline-less Sundays" of World War I.

THREE FAMILIES ARE BEREAVED BY TRUCK CRASH

Waynesburg, May 31.—(P)—Fifteen members of three Greene county families, happily en route to a fishing rendezvous along Coal Lick Run on Memorial Day, met tragedy instead when the truck in which they were riding plunged down a 30-foot embankment, killing one of each family.
The dead, Elizabeth Eleanor Belford, 4, Texanna Dunn, 10, both of Jefferson; Ruth Daugherty, 9, of Mather. Coroner Raymond C. Adamson said they were crushed when the truck rolled over them.
Thomas Belford, father of Elizabeth, safely shielded his nine-month-old son in his arms, but was injured painfully himself. Another son, and William Daugherty, 13, also required hospital treatment. The other occupants escaped with scratches and bruises.
The party just had left Waynesburg airport, where they attended an air show, and were heading along a narrow dirt road to Coal Lick Run when the accident occurred. The coroner released E. E. Dunn, 38, father of Texanna and driver of the truck, on his own recognizance.

Large Crowds of Interested And Grateful Citizens on Hand to View Imposing Parade and Listen to Interesting Program

CALVIN DAY HONORED

Most impressive Memorial Day exercises held here in recent years were conducted yesterday when a crowd of several thousand persons paid tribute to soldier and sailor dead of the community with a parade and exercises at Oakland cemetery. Ideal weather added to the enjoyment of the occasion.
The parade, which opened the day's program, moved shortly after ten o'clock from Fourth avenue, going south in Market street to the Hickory street bridge and thence to the G. A. R. stand in Oakland cemetery park.
For the first time since the first World War members of Company I, 112th Infantry, were absent from the procession, being in camp at Indiantown Gap with other units of the 28th Division. Their place in the line of march was taken by a large delegation of Boy Scouts.
In his usual place in the parade, however, was Calvin Day, 100-year-old Civil War veteran, of Russell, who received rounds of applause as the car in which he was riding passed along the streets.
Heading the parade was the grand marshal, Charles E. Ohlin, with his chief of staff, W. E. Yeager, and adjutant, Homer Fitch. Following them were the massed colors and color guards of the various participating organizations and the flower bearers. The high school band provided the music for the first division, which included the Boy Scouts, the Civil War veterans, members of the G. A. R. Circle, Spanish-American War veterans and auxiliary, county and city officials, participants in the day's program and members of women's patriotic organizations, all in automobiles.
The second division was headed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Band. It included members of Warren and Clarendon V. F. W. posts, sons and daughters of the V. F. W., and the organization's auxiliary.
In the third division, led by the American Legion drum corps, was the Legion firing squad, members of the local Legion post, sons and daughters of Legionnaires, the organization's auxiliary, Girl Scouts and Girl Reserves. The Salvation Army band and miscellaneous groups concluded the parade.
N. K. Wendelboe, American Legion commander, presided at the exercises at the G. A. R. stand and after giving the history of Memorial Day observances, presented the Rev. S. R. Schiel, who offered the invocation. Following a selection by the V. F. W. band, Earl R. Small told of the record of Warren county's last surviving Civil War veteran, Calvin Day, who took part in the parade but was unable to remain for the exercises.
A selection by a quartet composed of Preston Hoskin, Boyd Sanden, Roger Webster and Walter Irwin sang "Nearer My God To Thee," after which General Logan's Oration was read by William Berry, and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was presented by Fred Retterer, Jr. Another selection by the quartet, "Comrades in Arms," preceded the principal address by the Rev. J. A. Davidson, of the First Baptist church.
Rev. Davidson delivered a very impressive address, telling his listeners that despite present conditions in the world, the future under God's guidance and with the leadership of the great men of (Turn To Page Five)

Six Burn to Death In Three-Car Crash

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 31.—(P)—Six young people were burned to death last night when the automobile in which they were riding burst into flames following a three-car collision on highway U. S. 12 eight miles east of here.
The victims, all in their teens, were Wells Wood, 18, driver of the car; Dallas Holbrook, 17; Charles Williams, 17; Frances Milan, 18, and Mary Jane Bacillo, 18, all of Kalamazoo, and Falcia Guidice, 16, of Jackson, Mich. They were burned almost beyond recognition.
Another passenger, Ray Williams, 18, a brother of Charles, escaped by crawling through a window. He suffered severe burns.
Four others were hurt, none seriously, in the triple crash, the result, Sheriff Charles Struble said, of Wood's attempt to pass another car.

Defense Note Takes Precedence in Tribute Paid to War Dead in the Keystone State

By the Associated Press
The nation's defense program provided the keynote for Pennsylvania's Memorial Day observance. The theme was echoed throughout the state as thousands joined in military parades and cemetery exercises in tribute to the country's war dead.
Governor James led the observance by reviewing the 28th Division's 12,000 federalized National Guardsmen in their first formal parade at Indiantown Gap where rows of trees were dedicated to memory of the unit's 2,874 members who died in the world war.
Returning to his home town of Mount Joy, K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler Corporation, told a Memorial Day gathering that national morale was of vital importance in an age when "the men in the air, the men in the lines and on the battleships are now more dependent than ever upon the service of supply."
Pleas for co-operation between labor and industry in the country's defense program were voiced by some speakers.
U. S. Senator James J. Davis said at Titusville that there are "serious labor conditions" in America and that "there ought to be a happy relationship between employers and the two labor organizations."
Dr. William Mather Lewis, Pennsylvania selective service director, said at Easton that advisory groups should be formed in each community to help selectees fit themselves physically before they are called for military service.

Members of High School Class of '41 Enjoy Annual Dinner-Program

The Y. W. C. A. activities building was the scene of gala festivity on Thursday evening, when the high school class of 1941 met for its class night fun and fellowship dinner.

To the music of Dick Guild's Orchestra, the seniors and their guests, the faculty, marched into the gymnasium, which was beautifully decorated with red and silver streamers, balloons and flowers. Tables were attractive in their garb of flowers, red programs and colored hats which were soon transferred to the heads of seniors.

After the delicious dinner, everyone was welcomed by Harry Conroy, class president and master of ceremonies. Group singing followed under the direction of Carroll A. Fowler, with Lois Johnson at the piano. A special feature was the singing of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" by James E. Springer.

In her toast to the faculty, Jo Mackay compared them to hills, in that as students have traveled through the valleys of life, the teachers are looked up to for guidance and encouragement. She expressed the appreciation and love which the seniors feel for these guides and the happiness which is wished them.

In responding to this toast, Miss Phoebe Finley said that the class of 1941 is not just another class, but one to be remembered for its contributions to the school, its co-operation and ready friendliness passed on to the lower classes.

By telling humorous incidents from their lives, Harry Conroy, John and other toastmasters, introduced other performers. In his class history, Harold Johnson gave a brief and witty account of the life of the class since 1937. Mary Elizabeth Hamlin recited the very effective and lovely class poem. At this point the class mascot, the crazy rabbit in the person of Eugene Pring, was seen in some amusing stunts. Charles Trantier was heard in a vocal selection, "The Things I Love," and Bill Grangus, read in his droll manner the entertaining class obituary.

The class will, telling the non-sensical things which the seniors bequeathed to the lower classes and the Alma Mater, was read by Betty Urbanski. In a conversation of the year 1961, Joe Summerville and Mae Lawson cleverly foretold the future of certain seniors.

The lovely evening was brought to an effective and long to be remembered close when the seniors and faculty, under the leadership of Mr. Springer, rose and joined voices and hearts in the "Alma Mater."

Caps and gowns were issued to seniors at ten o'clock this morning and tickets distributed for commencement exercises on Thursday evening in the First Presbyterian church.

The next outstanding event in the senior calendar will be the annual baccalaureate service at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening in the First Presbyterian church. Rev. James A. Davidson, pastor of the First Baptist church, has been chosen by the class as its speaker and Carroll A. Fowler will direct the high school a cappella choir in special selections.

Seniors will hold their annual picnic at Midway Park on Lake Chautauqua on Monday, first cars leaving the school about one o'clock. There will be skating, swimming and wading to precede the picnic supper at 5:30 o'clock.

Reserve Officers Attend Meeting in DuBois on Thursday

The Warren County Reserve Officers' Association was represented by several members at the farewell party given in DuBois Thursday evening to honor Lt. Col. F. H. L. Ryder, recently transferred to Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri.

Lt. Col. Ryder had returned to DuBois for the graduation exercises of his daughter before taking his family to his new station in the midwest.

Present from here were Major Henry McConnell, of Torpore; Lt. Victor VanMylke, North Warren; Lt. H. A. McGrath, Freeman; O. Peterson, Paul W. Yagge and Alfred Nelson, Warren; E. V. Marlowe, Sheffield.

Among prominent speakers were Major Black, of St. Marys and Colonel Flagg, of DuBois, master of ceremonies.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT AT PITTSFIELD

Three cars and a truck were badly damaged and two persons injured seriously enough to require hospital treatment as a result of an accident which occurred Thursday night at the intersection of routes 8 and 27 at Pittsfield.

According to state motor police, James Trump, of R. D. 3, Danville, driving a large truck, misjudged the speed of a car which was following him, operated by James L. Hall, 40, of Pittsfield, and made a left turn. The truck sidewiped a sedan operated by Miss Rosamond Day, of this city, and later crashed into the Hall car, driving it against a sedan driven by Andrew J. Petris, of Elyria, Ohio.

Mr. Hall and his son, John Carl Hall, 12, received lacerations and bruises. They were brought to the Warren General Hospital for treatment and the boy remained overnight, being discharged yesterday.

State motor police stated Trump would be arrested for failure to yield the right of way.

The Hall car was completely demolished and the other two machines considerably damaged.

The United Spanish War Veterans' Camp and Auxiliary will have a tureen supper at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening at the American Legion Home. Those attending are asked to bring a tureen and bread and butter sandwiches. The regular business session will follow at eight o'clock.

RELIEF PAYMENTS

Direct relief payments made to needy Warren county residents during the week ended Thursday show a decrease of $27 from those of the previous week, according to State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner. Payments for the week totaled $458, which was $948 lower than those of the comparable week of last year.

TO EDIT YEARBOOK

Miss Eleanor Abenroth, sophomore at Friends University in Wichita, Kans., has been chosen to edit the 1942 Talisman yearbook of the college, according to a dispatch received from there today. She will be home early in June to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Abenroth.

BUY DEFENSE BOND

With money derived from the sale of old papers and magazines, pupils of the South street school have purchased a defense savings bond, it was announced today by Miss Mae Moran, principal. During the first World War, pupils of this school purchased two fifty dollar bonds. When the bonds were redeemed, two victrolas, one a portable, were bought for the school. Both of these are still in use.

PARKS WELL POPULATED

Nearby forest parks and picnic grounds were well populated yesterday, according to all reports, although they will not be opened officially until later in the summer. Every table and fireplace in the Allegheny park between Warren and Kinzua was busy between five and nine o'clock last evening. Warren's Washington park likewise was a popular point for recreation seekers during the afternoon and evening.

Tomorrow will mark the sixtieth hike of the Allegheny Hiking Club, and the group still maintains its record of having no two hikes to the same place. The trip will be in the same general vicinity as last Sunday's hike, up Six Mile Run, but over another portion of this area. It is probable that there will be only one more hike this season after tomorrow, so new hikers who wish to become acquainted are cordially invited to meet with the group at General Joseph Warren Park at 2:15 p. m.

MANY AT CEMETRIES

Endless strings of automobiles were driven to the two cemeteries on the south side Thursday evening and Friday morning and according to all reports the heavy traffic was handled without accident of any serious nature. Cemetery officials declare that it is doubtful if there ever was a time within a similar period that more cars visited the Cities of the Dead. #### "ZIEGFELD GIRL"

With twenty-one top flight screen personalities, opulently spectacular production numbers, 100 of the world's most beautiful girls and Adrian costumes, "Ziegfeld Girl" opens Sunday, Monday, Tuesday at the Library Theatre. James Stewart, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner and Tony Martin head the all-star cast in a dramatic story by William Anthony McGuire, who was author and director of some of Florenz Ziegfeld's most successful stage shows and who wrote "The Great Ziegfeld." Robert Z. Leonard, the man who directed that memorable film, also directed "Ziegfeld Girl." Production numbers ranging from the typical Ziegfeldian "stairway" and a fantasy laid in the tropics, to the finale, using the world's largest drum, have settings by Cedric Gibbons scaled to a lavish, spectacular note.

"The Devil's Pipeline"

Maintaining the high standard of their popular film series, Richard Arlen and Andy Devine's newest co-starring picture, "Universal's" "The Devil's Pipeline," which opens today and Sunday at the Columbia theatre, proving exciting screen fare.

Abounding in thrills, action and suspense, lightened by comic and romantic interludes, the production contains top-flight entertainment.

Dick and Andy are seen as American engineers delegated to investigate mysterious events at their company's oil fields on a tropical island.

"Robin Hood of Pecos"

Once again Roy Rogers, high ranking Republic cowboy star, rings the bell in his newest western, "Robin Hood of the Pecos," which opens today and Sunday at the Columbia Theatre. Rogers is at his best in the role of Vance Corbin, a young Confederate officer released from a northern prison camp on the close of the Civil War. He returns to Texas and joins forces with Gabby Hornaday (played by George "Gabby" Hayes) who, as "The Night Rider" is organizing the citizens to protest against mistreatment on the part of northern post-war politicians and "Carpet Baggers."

Members of High School Class of '41 Enjoy Annual Dinner-Program

The Y. W. C. A. activities building was the scene of gala festivity on Thursday evening, when the high school class of 1941 met for its class night fun and fellowship dinner.

To the music of Dick Guld's Orchestra, the seniors and their guests, the faculty, marched into the gymnasium, which was beautifully decorated with red and silver streamers, balloons and flowers. Tables were attractive in their garb of flowers, red programs and colored hats which were soon transferred to the heads of seniors.

After the delicious dinner, everyone was welcomed by Harry Conroy, class president and master of ceremonies. Group singing followed under the direction of Carroll A. Fowler, with Lois Johnson at the piano. A special feature was the singing of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" by James E. Springer.

In her toast to the faculty, Jo Mackay compared them to hills, in that as students have traveled through the valleys of life, the teachers are looked up to for guidance and encouragement. She expressed the appreciation and love which the seniors feel for these guides and the happiness which is wished them.

In responding to this toast, Miss Phoebe Finley said that the class of 1941 is not just another class, but one to be remembered for its contributions to the school, its co-operation and ready friendliness.

By telling humorous incidents from their lives, Harry Conroy, jolly and efficient toastmaster, introduced other performers. In his class history, Harold Johnson gave a brief and witty account of the life of the class since 1937. Mary Elizabeth Hamlin recited the very effective and lovely class poem. At this point the class mascot, the crazy rabbit in the person of Eugene Pring, was seen in some amusing stunts. Charles Tranter was heard in a vocal selection, "The Things I Love", and Bill Granquist read in his droll manner the entertaining class obituary.

The class will, telling the non-sensical things which the seniors bequeathed to the lower classes and the Alma Mater, was read by Betty Urbanski. In a conversation of the year 1961, Joe Summerville and Mae Lawson cleverly foretold the future of certain seniors.

The lovely evening was brought to an effective and long to be remembered close when the seniors and faculty, under the leadership of Mr. Springer, rose and joined voices and hearts in the "Alma Mater."

Caps and gowns were issued to seniors at ten o'clock this morning and tickets distributed for commencement exercises on Thursday evening in the First Presbyterian church.

The next outstanding event in the senior calendar will be the annual baccalaureate service at 7:45 o'clock Sunday evening in the First Presbyterian church. Rev. James A. Davidson, pastor of the First Baptist church, has been chosen by the class as its speaker and Carroll A. Fowler will direct the high school a cappella choir in special selections.

Seniors will hold their annual picnic at Midway Park on Lake Chautauqua on Monday, first cars leaving the school about one o'clock. There will be skating, swimming and wading to precede the picnic supper at 5:30 o'clock.

Reserve Officers Attend Meeting in DuBois on Thursday

The Warren County Reserve Officers' Association was represented by several members at the farewell party given in DuBois Thursday evening to honor Lt. Col. F. H. L. Ryder, recently transferred to Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri.

Lt. Col. Ryder had returned to DuBois for the graduation exercises of his daughter before taking his family to his new station in the midwest.

Present from here were Major Henry McConnell, of Torpedo; Lt. Victor VerMilyea, North Warren; Lt. H. A. McGrath, Freeman O. Peterson, Paul W. Yagge and Alfred Nelson, Warren; E. V. Marlowe, Sheffield.

Among prominent speakers were Major Black, of St. Marys, and Colonel Flag, of DuBois, master of ceremonies.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT AT PITTSFIELD

Three cars and a truck were badly damaged and two persons injured seriously enough to require hospital treatment as a result of an accident which occurred Thursday night at the intersection of routes 6 and 27 at Pittsfield.

According to state motor police, James Trump, of R. D. 3, Danville, driving a large truck, misjudged the speed of a car which was following him, operated by James L. Hall, 40, of Pittsfield, and made a left turn. The truck sidwiped a sedan operated by Miss Rosamond Day, of this city, and later crashed into the Hall car, driving it against a sedan driven by Andrew J. Petris, of Elyria, Ohio.

Mr. Hall and his son, John Carl Hall, 12, received lacerations and bruises. They were brought to the Warren General Hospital for treatment and the boy remained overnight, being discharged yesterday.

State motor police stated Trump would be arrested for failure to yield the right of way.

The Hall car was completely demolished and the other two machines considerably damaged.

TIMES TOPICS

JOHNSON TO SPEAK

Senator Hiram Johnson, veteran California Republican, whose broadcasts are rather infrequent, is scheduled for two networks tonight at ten. His talk, "The War," will come from Washington to NEC-Blue and MBS.

ENJOY PICNIC

Freshman history and social studies classes of the Beatty School enjoyed a weiner roast at the Warr-Penn park on Thursday evening. Eighty-five students were in attendance. Swimming and games were the principal pastimes.

TOWNSEND CLUB

The supper committee of Townsend Club No. 2, whose previous meeting was postponed, will meet next Tuesday evening at 7:15 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Fred Dasein, 100 Dobson avenue. All interested are requested to attend.

IS CORPORAL NOW

Louis Spinney, who has been advanced from the rank of private to corporal since his last leave from the Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland, is here to spend the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Spinney, Conewango avenue.

CAMP AND AUXILIARY

The United Spanish War Veterans' Camp and auxiliary will have a tureen supper at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening at the American Legion Home. Those attending are asked to bring a tureen and bread and butter sandwiches. The regular business session will follow at eight o'clock.

RELIEF PAYMENTS

Direct relief payments made to needy Warren county residents during the week ended Thursday show a decrease of $27 from those of the previous week, according to State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner. Payments for the week totaled $456, which was $945 lower than those of the comparable week of last year.

TO EDIT YEARBOOK

Miss Eleanor Abendroth, sophomore at Friends University in Wichita, Kans., has been chosen to edit the 1942 Talisman, year book of the college, according to a dispatch received from there today. She will be home early in June to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Abendroth.

BUY DEFENSE BOND

With money derived from the sale of old papers and magazines, pupils of the South street school have purchased a defense savings bond, it was announced today by Miss Mae Moran, principal. During the first World War, pupils of this school purchased two fifty dollar bonds. When the bonds were redeemed, two victrolas, one a portable, were bought for the school. Both of these are still in use.

PARKS WELL POPULATED

Nearly forest parks and picnic grounds were well populated yesterday, according to all reports, although they will not be opened officially until later in the summer. Every table and fireplace in the Allegheny park between Warren and Kinzua was busy between five and nine o'clock last evening. Warren's Washington park likewise was a popular point for recreation seekers during the afternoon and evening.

The committee arranging for the daily vacation Bible school in the central park on today's holiday-like all pastors, Sunday school superintendents and teachers of the school, to be held in the First Baptist church, to meet at that building at four o'clock Monday afternoon. The school begins June 9 and continues through June 20, with all children between the ages of 4 and 18 years invited to enroll.

SCORE THREE TIMES

Tomorrow will mark the sixtieth hike of the Allegheny Hiking Club, and the group still maintains its record of having no two hikes to the same place. The trip will be in the same general vicinity as last Sunday's hike, up Six Mile Run, but over another portion of this area. It is probable that there will be only one more hike this season after tomorrow, so new hikers who wish to become acquainted are cordially invited to meet with the group at General Joseph Warren Park at 2:15 p. m.

MANY AT CEMETERIES

Endless strings of automobiles were driven to the two cemeteries on the south side Thursday evening and Friday morning and according to all reports the heavy traffic was handled without accident of any serious nature. Cemetery officials declare that it is doubtful if there ever was a time, within a similar period, that more cars visited the Cities of the Dead. State Motor Police assisted patrolmen in handling the crowds yesterday morning.

"ZIEGFELD GIRL"

With twenty-one top flight screen personalities, opulently spectacular production numbers, 100 of the world's most beautiful girls and Adrian costumes, "Ziegfeld Girl" opens Sunday, Monday, Tuesday at the Library Theatre.

James Stewart, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner and Tommy Martin head the all-star cast in a dramatic story by William Anthony McGuire, who was author and director of some of Florenz Ziegfeld's most successful stage shows and who wrote "The Great Ziegfeld." Robert Z. Leonard, the man who directed that memorable film, also directed "Ziegfeld Girl." Production numbers ranging from the typical Ziegfeldian "stairway" and a fantasy, laid in the tropics, to the finale, using the world's largest drum, have settings by Cedric Gibbons scaled to a lavish, spectacular note.

MEMORIAL DAY IS CELEBRATED AT SHEFFIELD

Sheffield, May 31.—With striking and soul-stirring pageantry and solemn memorial rites, Sheffield yesterday paid tribute to her own and the nation's soldier and sailor dead.

The Memorial Day observance, in charge of Frank M. Glendenning Post, American Legion, was attended by a throng of several hundred persons, including scores of former local residents who had returned especially for the day. Ideal weather prevailed throughout.

The parade, forming on South Main street, got under way about 9:30 a. m., proceeding by way of Main, Horton, Pickering, Church and School streets to the cemetery, where the memorial rites were conducted.

Prominent in the program at the cemetery was the address of the day, which was delivered by Calvin Hall, Warren County Boy Scout executive. His speech in its broader aspects constituted an appeal to the assembly to take an increasingly active part in the country's struggle to strengthen its defense, a struggle which is primarily, the speaker asserted, one of strengthening and invigorating democracy throughout the nation.

The speaker concluded his remarks by giving the pledge which was conceived and is being distributed throughout the nation by the Citizenship Educational Service.

The program opened with the Sheffield H. S. Band playing the "Booster March." Then followed a brief talk on the significance of Memorial Day by Ruland Russ, commander of Frank M. Glendenning Post and general chairman of the observance. He concluded by introducing Beryl Burlingame, Star Scout of Troop 36, who announced the remainder of the program, which opened with the invocation by Joseph Benson, post chaplain.

Following in order were a series of three patriotic songs sung by a group of Lincoln school pupils; the Gettysburg Address, given by Miss Edna Mae Baynes; the address of the day, by Mr. Hall; selection, "Necro March," H. S. Band, and the benediction by Mr. Benson.

The military phase of the observance then took place, beginning with the roll call of the soldier, sailor and war nurse dead. Milton Dunn, Spanish-American War vet, was the reader; Harry Peterson, World War vet, the drummer, and Arthur Hanson, World War vet, the decorator. After the reading of each of the 62 names, Mr. Hanson placed a small American flag on a different one of 62 small white symbolical crosses which had been placed on the G. A. R. plot in front of the speaker's stand.

A volley of three rounds, fired by a Legionnaire squad, and sounding of taps concluded the day's observance. The firing squad, in charge of John G. Cochran, included George Peterson, Emil Hjelm, Howard Watson, Harold Eider, Earl McCaskey, Ralph McEider, George Weidow, and Clarence Hoover. Harry Hanson and Pete Fitzgerald were the color bearers, and Earl Carr and Charles Conquer were the guards. Taps and the echo were sounded by Chester Sprandle and Eugene Champion, buglers.

Organizations that participated in the parade included, in the order they lined up, the Lincoln Bugle Corps, Boy Scout Troop 36, Lincoln school students, the Sheffield H. S. Band, Frank M. Glendenning Post, American Legion, Sons of the Legion, Sheffield Volunteer Fire Department, and the Washington school students.

CORRY OFFICER DIES IN CRASH AT INDIANTOWN

Captain Hastings H. Jones, 45, of the 110th Infantry regiment, was killed early today in the collision of his automobile and a New York bound bus, six miles south-west of the Indiantown Gap military post, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Captain Jones, a resident of Corry, had served 21 years in the army and the Pennsylvania National Guard and was a veteran of the World War. He was returning to the post from Lebanon when the accident occurred at 3:40 a. m. at the intersection of routes 72 and 22.

Captain H. S. Messic, who aided state police in an investigation, said the officer apparently failed to realize he was approaching route 22 which is the main highway to New York.

Several passengers on the bus were shaken up in the collision. Surviving Captain Jones is his widow, of 6 Park place, Corry.

The fourth member of this year's Vanderbilt Cup winners was John R. Crawford, of Philadelphia. He and McPherran are the two youngest players ever to win that title. Neither is over 25.

While this is Crawford's first victory in the Vanderbilt contest, he was a member of the Philadelphia team that won the National Board-a-Match Championship three times, flying up from his honeymoon in Florida to successfully defend in 1939.

Here is one of the hands that helped to bring his team success in the Vanderbilt Cup tournament. South won the opening lead with the ace of hearts and led the ten. Guessing the situation, Crawford put up the king so as to block the suit. Then he knocked out the ace of spades. South led a third heart, and North exited with the nine of diamonds, forcing out the ten, king and ace.

Now Crawford led a low club to the ace. When the jack dropped, he took his only chance to make a club suit by leading low from dummy to his eight. He saw that if South held the queen blank, the club suit could never be made.

Fortunately, North held the rest of the clubs. It was then an easy matter to finesse against North's remaining club stopper to gather the rest of the tricks.

Dr. Burnstone has held the lead among the Master Point holders since the system was inaugurated. Before moving to California from New York, Burnstone played in all the championship matches of the four Aces, but has been out of tournament competition since 1938, when he and his teammates won the World Championship Masters Team title.

Oswald Jacoby has been striving to pass Burnstone for years, and although he lost the Vanderbilt Championship in the last round, Jacoby received sufficient Master Points for his runner-up position to give him the grand total of 1338—six more than Burnstone.

Out of every championship match there is one hand that brings forth a great deal of comment and discussion. While Jacoby went down on this hand, the great many players were of the opinion that he played the hand correctly.

Jacoby had to make a sheer guess on the opening lead—a guess as to which opponent held the king of diamonds. What he actually did was to put up the ace of diamonds, cash the ace of trumps without a finesse, then cash three rounds of clubs, discarding his two diamonds. But East ruffed the third club and West still had his king of trumps.

Of course, we can all see that by ducking the first lead, Jacoby could have made a grand slam. The question is, what is the correct line of play when you don't see all four hands? Jacoby's line of play would win if the clubs were split 3-3, or 4-2 with the hand holding two clubs also holding Kx in spades.

Some experts argue it is better to accept both finessses in diamonds and spades if necessary. Others prefer the plan of playing the ace of diamonds and running three clubs at once for discards. This plan would leave the spade finesse as a last resort. What do you think is the best chance?

To Be Dinner Speaker

Benny Friedman, outstanding football star of the University of Michigan, who will speak at the North Warren Community House, Tuesday, June 3rd, has established a brilliant record for himself not only as a collegiate star but also in the field of professional ball. In his three years at Michigan, Friedman was made All American twice and established a lasting reputation for clean, fair sportsmanship. At present Friedman is coaching at the College of the City of New York. In 1937 City College turned in the best record of its gridiron history.

Keenly interested in the problems now confronting the country, and endowed with rare speaking ability, Mr. Friedman offers a lecture in which his experience as athlete and coach provides a fascinating background to a straightforward effective message on Americanism.

This meeting will mark the first time that the four leading service clubs of Warren county will meet as a single unit. The Rotary Club, Lions Club and Kiwanis club will meet with the N. Warren Civic Club on this occasion. The regular noon luncheon meetings of these organizations have been postponed and perfect attendance records will be given for attendance at this meeting.

As previously announced, there will be a recess at 7:45 which will permit any who wish to leave to attend activities to be held in Warren the same evening. The dinner will start promptly at 6:15 p. m. Tickets may be secured from any member of the Civic Club or by calling Boyd Sanden at 775.

MEMORIAL DAY IS CELEBRATED AT SHEFFIELD

Sheffield, May 31.—With striking and soul-stirring pageantry and solemn memorial rites, Sheffield yesterday paid tribute to her own and the nation's soldier and sailor dead.

The Memorial Day observance, in charge of Frank M. Glendenning Post, American Legion, was attended by a throng of several hundred persons, including scores of former local residents who had returned especially for the day. Ideal weather prevailed throughout.

The parade, forming on South Main street, got under way about 9:20 a. m., proceeding by way of Main, Horton, Pickering, Church and School streets to the cemetery, where the memorial rites were conducted.

Prominent in the program at the cemetery was the address of the day, which was delivered by Calvin Hall, Warren County Boy Scout executive. His speech in its broader aspects constituted an appeal to the assembly to take an increasingly active part in the country's struggle to strengthen its defense, a struggle which is primarily, the speaker asserted, one of strengthening and invigorating democracy throughout the nation.

The speaker concluded his remarks by having the audience join him in giving the pledge, which was conceived and is being distributed throughout the nation by the Citizenship Educational Service.

The program opened with the Sheffield H. S. Band playing the "Booster March." Then followed a brief talk on the significance of Memorial Day by Ruland Russ, commander of Frank M. Glendenning Post and general chairman of the observance. He concluded by introducing Beryl Burlingame, Star Scout of Troop 36, who announced the remainder of the program, which opened with the invocation by Joseph Benson, post chaplain.

Following in order were a series of three patriotic songs sung by a group of Lincoln school pupils; the Gettysburg Address, given by Miss Edna Mae Baynes; the address of the day, by Mr. Hall; selection, "Necro March," H. S. Band, and the benediction by Mr. Benson.

The military phase of the observance then took place, beginning with the roll call of the soldier, sailor and war nurse dead. Milton Dunn, Spanish-American War vet, was the reader; Harry Peterson, World War vet, the drummer, and Arthur Hanson, World War vet, the decorator. After the reading of each of the 62 names, Mr. Hanson placed a small American flag on top of a different one of 62 small white symbolic crosses which had been placed on the G. A. R. plot in front of the speaker's stand.

A volley of three rounds, fired by a Legionnaire squad, and sounding of taps concluded the day's observance. The firing squad, in charge of John G. Cochran, included George Peterson, Emil Hjelm, Howard Watson, Harold Elder, Earl McCaskey, Ralph McCool, George Weidow and Clarence Hoover. Harry Hanson and Pete Fitzgerald were the color bearers, and Earl Carr and Charles Conquer were the guards. Taps and the echo were sounded by Chester Sprandle and Eugene Champion, buglers.

Organizations that participated in the parade included, in order, the Lincoln Legion, the Lincoln Bugle Corps, Boy Scout Troop 36, Lincoln school students, the Sheffield H. S. Band, Frank M. Glendenning Post, American Legion, Sons of the Legion, Sheffield Volunteer Fire Department, and the Washington school students.

CORRY OFFICER DIES IN CRASH AT INDIANTOWN

Captain Hastings H. Jones, 45, of the 110th Infantry regiment, was killed early today in the collision of his automobile and a New York bound bus, six miles southwest of the Indiantown Gap military post, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Captain Jones, a resident of Corry, had served 21 years in the army and the Pennsylvania National Guard and was a veteran of the World War. He was returning to the post from Lebanon when the accident occurred at 3:40 a. m. at the intersection of routes 72 and 22.

Captain H. S. Messic, who aided state police in an investigation, said the officer apparently failed to realize he was approaching route 22 which is the main highway to New York.

Several passengers on the bus were shaken up in the collision. Surviving captain Jones is his widow, of 6 Park place, Corry.

The fourth member of this year's Vanderbilt Cup winners was John R. Crawford, of Philadelphia. He and McPherran are the two youngest players ever to win that title. Neither is over 25.

While this is Crawford's first victory in the Vanderbilt contest, he was a member of the Philadelphia team that won the National Board-a-Match Championship three times, flying up from his honeymoon in Florida to successfully defend in 1939.

Here is one of the hands that helped to bring his team success in the Vanderbilt Cup tournament. South won the opening lead with the ace of hearts and led the ten. Guessing the situation, Crawford put up the king so as to block the suit. Then he knocked out the ace of spades. South led a third heart, and North exited with the nine of diamonds, forcing out the ten, king and ace.

Now Crawford led a low club to the ace. When the jack dropped, he took his only chance to make a club suit by leading low from dummy to his eight. He saw that if South held the queen blank, the club suit could never be made.

Fortunately, North held the rest of the clubs. It was then an easy matter to finesse against North's remaining club stopper to gather the rest of the tricks.

D. Bruce Burnstone has held the lead among the Master Point holders since the system was inaugurated. Before moving to California from New York, Burnstone played in all the championship matches of the Four Aces, but has been out of tournament competition since 1938, when he and his teammates won the World Championship Masters Team title.

Oswald Jacoby has been striving to pass Burnstone for years, and although he lost the Vanderbilt Championship in the last round, Jacoby received sufficient position to give him the grand total of 1338—six more than Burnstone.

Out of every championship match there is one hand that brings forth a great deal of comment and discussion. While Jacoby went down on this hand, a great many players were of the opinion that he played the hand correctly.

Jacoby had to make a sheer guess on the opening lead—a guess as to which opponent held the king of diamonds. What he actually did was to put up the ace of diamonds, cash the ace of trumps without a finesse, then cash three rounds of clubs, discarding his two diamonds. But East ruffed the third club and West still had his king of trumps.

Of course, we can all see that by ducking the first lead, Jacoby could have made a grand slam. The question is, what is the correct line of play when you don't see all four hands? Jacoby's line of play would win if the clubs were split 3-3, or 4-2 with the hand holding two clubs also holding Kx in spades.

Some experts argue it is better to accept both finessses in diamonds and spades if necessary. Others prefer the plan of playing the ace of diamonds, and running three clubs at once for discards. This plan would leave the spade finesse as a last resort. What do you think is the best chance?

To Be Dinner Speaker

Benny Friedman, outstanding football star of the University of Michigan, who will speak at the North Warren Community House, Tuesday, June 3rd, has established a brilliant record for himself not only as a collegiate star but also in the field of professional ball. In his three years at Michigan, Friedman was made All American twice and established a lasting reputation for clean, fair sportsmanship. At present Friedman is coaching at the College of the City of New York. In 1937 City College turned in the best record of its gridiron history.

Keenly interested in the problems now confronting the country, and endowed with rare speaking ability, Mr. Friedman offers a lecture in which his experience as athlete and coach provides a fascinating background to a straightforward effective message on Americanism.

This meeting will mark the first time that the four leading service clubs of Warren county will meet as a single unit. The Rotary Club, Lions Club and Kiwanis club will meet with the N. Warren Civic Club on this occasion. The regular noon luncheon meetings of these organizations have been postponed and perfect attendance records will be given for attendance at this meeting.

As previously announced, there will be a recess at 7:45 which will permit any who wish to leave to attend activities to be held in Warren the same evening. The dinner will start promptly at 6:15 p. m. Tickets may be secured from any member of the Civic Club or by calling Boyd Sanden at 775.

WARREN PAYS HOMAGE

With perfect weather prevailing to add to the impressiveness of the occasion Warren paused yesterday to pay tribute to the honored dead of the Civil War, and of all the wars since in which Americans have fought.
The large crowd in attendance for the exercises at the cemetery emphasized the fact that these heroes who have gone are not forgotten.
While Warren county's lone Civil War veteran, Calvin Day, was able to appear in the parade, most communities in the state were less fortunate for they had no representatives of the noble ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic. Back of Mr. Day Spanish-American War veterans, World War veterans, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and delegations of other patriotic organizations paraded to the beautiful spot in Oakland where appropriate homage was paid the memories of those who have given their lives for their country.

Absence of the boys of Company I, 112th Infantry, who always have had an important part in the annual services, was commented on freely as a reminder that we are fast approaching another crisis in national affairs, in the light of what is taking place overseas.

For Warren it was a solemnly patriotic day, more of a Sabbath and less of a holiday than many others on the calendar. All credit is due to the veterans' organizations under whose auspices the program was arranged, as well as the bands and marching groups appearing in the most inspiring parade, to those who participated in the program at the cemetery, and that large group of patriotic and grateful citizens who lined the streets traversed by the procession and later attended the exercises.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

"DIVERSIONS"
BY R. W. REYNOLDS
General Secretary of the Warren Y. M. C. A.
Reference: St. Luke 14:28-35
Do you remember Browning's "Epistle" in which Karshish, the Arab physician, reports an incredible interview with the resurrected Lazarus in Bethany? Lazarus' momentary glimpse of heaven had completely destroyed his interest in the contemporary world. The Roman armies were already marching toward the destruction of Jerusalem, but the enchanted dreamer paid no heed to this or aught else in "this present evil world."
"The man is witless of the size, the sum,
The value in proportion to all things,
Or whether it be little or be much.
Discourse to him of prodigious armaments
Assembled to besiege his city now,
And of the passing of a mule with gourds
'Tis one. Then take it on the other side.
Speak of some trifling fact—he will gaze rapt
With stupor at its very littleness."
The Arab psychiatrist tried without success to shock this split personality back to normalcy, and was himself left pondering which world was real.
"How, beast, said I, this stolid carelessness Sufficeth thee, when Rome is on the march
To stamp out like a little spark thy town,
Thy tribe, thy crazy tale and thee at once?
He merely looked with his large eyes at me."

I could not help thinking of this interesting case when one considers for instance: The delay to our National Defense program because of dispute between employers and employees—the endless con-troverly between the Interventionists and Isolationists, despite the fact that we are facing the most gigantic social convulsion the race of man has ever known. These world events while mainly taking place on the continents of Europe, Asia, and Africa threaten us in America with consequences at least as serious as Titus' march on Palestine.
All of which makes me think of Lazarus.
The real task of religion in America today is shown by the outstanding contrast in our civilization; we have a wonderful resourcefulness in mastering things; we are baffled by human relationships.
The first step toward a better order is, in the classic words of Matthew Arnold's definition of culture, "To turn a stream of fresh and free thought upon our stock notions and habits." That we must do in the high faith in the nation expressed in the word of John Milton:
"A nation should be one huge Christian personage, one mighty growth and stature of an honest man."
"Sail on, O Ship of State,
Sail on, O Union, strong and great.
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate."
Longfellow.
Warren's Memorial Day observance seems to have been free from serious accidents, but motorists and pedestrians alike should remember the three-day holiday will not be ended until every person is home, safe and sound, Sunday night or early Monday morning.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Footnote to history, Manhattan style: It was just 216 years ago, come Nov. 8, that New York had its first newspaper. . . . It was called the New York Gazette. . . .
On the staff there was no drama critic because the theater then, as it concerned New York, hadn't been invented. . . . The first theater came seven years later, in 1732, when a solid Dutch burgher by the name of Rip Van Dorn opened a new candle-lit house and produced "The Recruiting Officer." Later, in the pages of the Gazette, appeared this notice: "A pistol reward will be given to whoever can discover the person who was so very rude as to throw eggs from the gallery." . . . A pistol was a gold Spanish coin commonly used throughout Europe and its value today would be about $3.92.
So you can see by this that only about six pistols were needed when the Dutch pulled off their great real estate deal and bought the island of Manhattan from the Algonquin Indians, who were very dumb in more ways than one. The crafty Dutch made the deal with trade, the "money" in question being $24 worth of beads and trinkets.
HISTORY tells us that the Al-gonquins lived in mortal terror of some of their more savage kinsmen and had assembled here on the coast because they couldn't stand the ambushing and the pot-shooting that went on while they lived deeper in the forest. This fear of their enemies is reflected in the wild joy with which they greeted the coming up the white man, whom they hoped would protect them and help them out from under the load of tribute which their tormentors extracted ever so often.
Today Algonquin is the name of a telephone exchange and of a theatrical hotel in the mid-forties where John Barrymore lived.

OF New York's more than seven million inhabitants, 600,000 are German, 650,000 are Irish, 10-000 are Yugoslavs, 40,000 are Czechs, 500 are Hindus, 3,000 are Mexican, 18,000 are Chinese, 25-000 are Greek, 800 are Rumanian gypsies, 30,000 are Syrian, 22,000 are Armenians, and probably a million are Italians. . . .
In this footnote I seem to have omitted the Poles, French, English, Negroes and Jews, who number into the millions. The Jews have many newspapers here of their own, some printed in Yiddish; the Negroes in New York have no dailies but they have three weeklies.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

In 1921
The complaints against the sixty cent per 1,000 feet rate for natural gas service filed by the cities of Erie and Corry and the borough of Warren against the Pennsylvania Gas Company, have been sustained by the Public Service Commission. The company has been directed to file a new tariff on or before June 15 that will establish a maximum of 50 cents per 1,000 feet.
Marshall Parshall received a telegram this morning informing him that he had been appointed postmaster at Warren to succeed W. A. Walker, who has held the office for the past four years.
The boxes or "hanging gardens" that held the flowers that adorned the new bridge last summer, still lay empty at the Crescent Floral Gardens, because funds necessary to pay for filling them have not been forthcoming.
A bicycle exhibition, consisting of a parade and race, will be held Saturday between Market and Laurel streets on Fourth avenue.
There were only two wagons on the Hickory street curb market this morning and one of these was an auto.
Two candidates for the Republican nomination for county commissioner announced today and the field of candidates seeking the Democratic nomination was increased by two. The Republicans are B. H. Donovan and J. A. Sag-erdahl, while the Democrats are James K. Bell and Samuel C.
Brown.
The following ladies motored to Buffalo Wednesday to attend the showing of "Elizabeth the Queen" at the Erlanger theatre: Mrs. Freeman Herzel, Mrs. Paul DeFrees, Mrs. David Beatty, Mrs. H. L.
Baughart, Mrs. R. W. Steber, Mrs.
J. L. Matthews, Mrs. Robert Mackay, Mrs. L. L. Hunter, Miss Jean Walker, Miss Marion Sleeman,
Miss Rebecca Schofield and Mrs.
Byron Knapp.
William Moran was named master counselor of Warren Chapter, Order of DeMolay last night. Merritt Rohlin is the new senior counsellor and Monroe Marshall is junior counselor.
Miss Nellie E. Lounsbury, Market street, supreme vice president of the Woman's Benefit Association, with her sister, Mrs. E. D.
Everts, is in Pittsburgh this week,
and is presiding at the state convention of that order.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
First of two articles on law enforcement and national defense.
WASHINGTON—Working for two years so quietly that only a few hints leaked out, Federal Bureau of Investigation Director J. Edgar Hoover has completed his "FBI Law Enforcement Officers Mobilization Plan for National Defense."
Hoover emphasizes it is not "a national police force." It actually is a far more widespread law enforcement agency than the national government could hope to maintain alone. It ties nearly 4,300 cooperating police agencies in towns, counties and states into a network coordinated by the FBI.
This means that countless thousands of police officers, sheriffs and their deputies, detectives and government agents now are working, with FBI methods and under FBI guidance, to clear the entire defense setup of saboteurs, spies and fifth columnists.
It means that the FBI's 17,000-000 fingerprint cards, its technical laboratory with more than 100 crime scientists, its knowledge of modern sabotage methods learned on the ground in countries now at war, and its vast reservoir of criminal information will be available to all these agencies in their concerted efforts against enemies of our defense plans and plants.
On President's Order
BACK in September, 1939, President Roosevelt asked the FBI to take charge of all investigation "relating to espionage, sabotage, and violation of the neutrality regulations."
"This task," said the President,
"must be conducted in a comprehensive and effective manner on a national basis, and all information must be sifted out and correlated."
Using this order as his springboard, Director Hoover and aides went to work. The plan they wove is simple.
Through its fingerprint assembling system, its Uniform Crime reports (a quarterly survey of crime throughout the nation), its National Police School (a concentrated "college" of criminology here in Washington which graduated 553 members of po-

BEACH PAJAMAS OR PLAY-SUIT

PATTERN 4779

by Anne Adams

Beach pajamas are in the play-time picture more than ever! Pattern 4779 is a smart new Anne Adams version of this favorite mode. It's a soft yet tailored-looking style that's made in one piece, with a smooth, wide waistband for a two-piece effect. You'll like the casualness of the crisply pointed collar; the convenience of the front buttoning that makes it so easy to get into. The bloused bodice lines are kept trim by slashes at the shoulders that hold gathered fullness below, aided by darts above the waist. Notice the full-cut legs of the trousers—very flattering and so smart this season. Your sleeves may be short or long and full. This pattern includes a play-suit version, too.

Sugar Grove Pastor Unites in Marriage Miss Dorothy Baxter and His Son, E. R. Hagberg

Mixed summer flowers were used in pretty decorations at the First Methodist church Friday afternoon, when Miss Dorothy M. Baxter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Baxter, 111 West street, became the bride of Everett R. Hagberg, 7 Monroe street, son of Rev. and Mrs. Levi R. Hagberg, of Sugar Grove.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 o'clock by the bridegroom's father, with Dr. T. E. Colley, local pastor, assisting. Carroll A. Fowler, organist, used the following selections for a half-hour recital while the guests were assembling: "Berceuse" from Godard's "Jocelyn," "Romance" by Zitterbart, and "Canticle Nuptiale" by Dubois. He played, also, the traditional wedding marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn and accompaniments for Clayton Sanden, of Russell, who sang "Where'er You Walk" by Handel and "O Perfect Love" by Barnby.

The bride, who was escorted and given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street dress of navy blue, with matching hat and shoes, complemented with pearls and a white carnation shoulder corsage.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Richard Benz, of Harrisburg, who wore a red rose corsage with a navy ensemble. The bride's mother wore a blue print frock and white accessories and Mrs. Hagberg wore black and white, each having a gaudy corsage. Arnold V. Hagberg, of Erie, was his brother's best man and ushers were Emerson and Norris Baxter, brothers of the bride.

About 65 guests were invited for the reception which followed immediately at the Baxter home, where summer flowers were used in attractive decorations. The bride's table, in blue and crystal, held a lovely wedding cake flanked by tall candles, and a doll-bride. Guests were from Harrisburg, Ridgway, Sugar Grove, Russell, Erie, Jamestown, N. Y., and Youngstown, Ohio.

After a short motor trip, the couple are to be at home at 302 East Fifth avenue. The bride is a graduate of the local high school in the class of 1937 and is employed in the office of the Pennsylvania Electric Company here. Mr. Hagberg, graduate of Falconer High School in 1934, attended North Park College in Chicago, Ill., and now has employment at the Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron Company.

Parties have been given for the bride-elect by her mother and sister, Miss Eleanor; by Mrs. Hagberg and daughters, Felice and Esther; Mrs. Emerson Baxter; girls of the Pennsylvania Electric Company, and by Mrs. Louis Lind.

Many Highlights in Spring Conservatory Recital at Philomel

The many local friends of Virginia Marks Reed, of Erie, will no doubt be delighted to welcome her again when she comes to play a group of piano solos as one of the highlights of the spring Conservatory of Music recital at the Philomel Club on Saturday, June 7.

There are to be many fine features of that program, not the least of them being Edward German's setting of Rudyard Kipling's poem, "Big Steamers," especially timely today since the prophetic words of the poet foretold conditions that today confront England and have repercussions in this country. Roger Webster will sing the work as a baritone solo.

Eugene Kuester, in charge of arranging this recital, is providing an artistic treat which will be appreciated by all discriminating lovers of good music. F. Arthur Johnson, Jr., of Kane, whose cello playing is of the highest order and won for him first place in the state competition at New Castle in April. His accompanist is Robert Benicoter.

A clarinet solo will be heard in the lovely melody of the Andante by Gluck. These musicians are Ruth Simonsen, George Walter and Barbara Smith. Artist pupils of Mr. Kuester, Violet Anderson Borg, Agnes Kathleen Monroe, Constance Dey, Ruth Satterlund, Roger Webster and Clayton Sanden will be heard in solo and ensemble numbers. Miss Monroe will sing "O, Hear the Gentle Lark" by Bishop, with flute obligato by Dorothy Bosin.

A piano duo, Schumann's Andante and Variations, played by Adelaide Swanson and Edith Haines Kuester, will round out a program that will compare well with any of the large musical centers of the country.

THE SACRED DAGGER

Chapter Ten
Strange Bargain
ANNE gave Blaze a swift hand clasp and slipped through the door to the harem enclosure. She joined the Princess eating her breakfast at a little table. The woman received Sherwood's message thoughtfully and asked again, "Is he in love with you?" Anne flushed. "No," she said. "Mr. Sherwood might jolly a girl along but I doubt if he'd fall in love where it wouldn't do any good. He knows how to take care of himself."

The Princess looked distastefully at Anne's breeches and boots and shirt. "The servants will bring you clothing belonging to the Persian daughter and help you prepare for the visit of the Emir."

"But what if he should detect the trick," asked Anne terrified at the thought.

The woman lifted her somber black eyes. "You'd better pray that he doesn't."

Servants painted Anne's fingernails with an unguent made of marigolds and henna, tinted her toes and the lobes of her ears with the same fierce orange, darkened her eyelids and dressed her in a flowing pale blue garment with a voluminous white crepe veil that gave her the appearance, when she walked, of a perambulating tent.

The Princess lined up the women like cattle for inspection. To Anne the ordeal seemed almost unbearable. She was torn by mixed emotions of fear and rage. Fear that some sly sense in the Emir might detect the disguise; rage that she, an American girl, must submit to such an experiment.

The other women seemed almost as nervous as Anne. Suddenly their chattering ceased. The Emir stood at the entrance to the court. He came across the tiled floor and walked down the line, peering on spindly legs as he stopped here and there, slapped one girl's face for no reason that Anne could fathom and then paused before his Persian daughter.

For a moment Anne thought she saw sly triumph and knowledge in his rheumy eyes. He made a remark to her in a rasping voice. She could only bow, unable to understand or to answer him. Then he passed on.

The Princess informed her afterwards he had merely said "Good eyes to her bow had been quite all right."

"He tells me he has decided to honor the man who saved his life with the hand of one of his daughters. He feels it will promote friendliness between himself and the government of Shani Lun."

Anne began to laugh; she was still a bit wrought up. "Does he think Mr. Sherwood would accept such a gift?"

"One does not refuse gifts from the Emir if he values his life," "Oh," gasped Anne. Presently she said, "It might be a good idea to send that information to Mr. Sherwood. Where would he be expected to take the girl if he married her?"

"To Shani Lun, by the way of Chuksa."

Anne's eyes began to shine. "Which daughter is to be given him?" she asked in a muted voice.

"He has left the choice to me," Anne caught her hand. "Oh, Princess, don't you see--this is my chance to escape! Let me be the daughter who marries him. I'm sure Dr. Sherwood is willing to do this thing for me."

The Princess picked up a long, loosely wrapped cigarette to which a servant held a coal. She looked at Anne through narrowed lids.

"What would he get out of it?" "Why--why?" Anne stammered and stopped. "His pay would be the satisfaction of having done a noble deed--a deed of chivalry."

"What does chivalry mean?" "It means disinterested service to the weak or oppressed."

Note to Blaze
THE Princess shook her head. "The love of Allah might cause a man to deal nobly with another man, for men have souls--but women, like animals, must earn their right to live. If this man is willing to take you in preference to another girl it is because you are desirable to him."

Anne thought, "In comparison with these pathetic native girls, I probably am." Aloud she said, "Just help me get a message to him."

She wrote her note excitedly, an incoherent mess, she felt, and added that if a native wedding ceremony made legal complications native law made it a divorce for him extremely easy; he need merely make a declaration before witnesses. The Princess had told her so.

Several hours later an answer came from Sherwood:

A very nice proposal--my first--but don't you over-anticipate--mentioning di-voice? You may find me indispensable. However, I'm yours on any terms, and whatever you say goes. The Emir is a dirty dog. I'll be glad when we can get away from here. Rush the ceremony. Blaze

"We must be careful and do things properly lest we rouse the Emir's suspicions," the Princess warned her. "There will be no usual feast or holiday because of the attempted assassination last night. You are to marry at dawn in the morning and slip away quietly. There is a feeling here against white men, even when they save the life of the ruler."

That night brought a terrific storm--lightning, wind, rain, a minor earthquake shock. In the morning clear skies returned. The wedding ceremony was held before the Emir's platform throne on which he sat in all his magnificence. The magistrate, the mullah, the bridegroom and Mackey as witness standing below. The scribe was seated at a small table.

Anne, in her voluminous white veils, stood at one side in front of the other women who were looking out curiously from the black tents of their more commonplace clothing.

She saw Mackey gaze at her attentively. He turned to Sherwood and spoke aloud in the security of a language unknown to the audience, while waiting for the scribe to arrange his papers.

"What if they've switched brides on you, Blaze?" "Shut up," growled Sherwood, but he gave her a swift glance of apprehension, for he knew that anything could happen in this country.

Mackey grinned and spoke again to Anne this time though he kept his gaze on the floor.

"Miss Anne, you see his distress. Do you wish to reassure the bridegroom?" He lifted his head and winked at her. Anne caught the gesture and kept still. Several of the girls behind her took the wink to themselves and giggled.

Watch out or you'll have a bride on your hands," Sherwood warned him.

"Sweet serpents," muttered Mackey. "She doesn't answer. They've probably given you a chunky maiden with her front teeth missing."

Married
SHERWOOD'S lips tightened but otherwise he showed no reaction. Mackey continued in the same plaintive tones. "Those women remind me of a flock of black cats on a fence at midnight. Nothing alive but their shining eyes."

The scribe was ready. The magistrate asked questions. Anne learned afterwards. What was her dowry? The scribe wrote the list the Emir called. Rugs, perfumes, jewels, bales of silk, a castle in the desert.

Then Sherwood was asked what property he bestowed on the bride. He looked nonplussed for a moment. Then magistrate kindly explained that he must enumerate the gifts to prevent an infringement of the dower rights of other wives. This brought an unexpected hoot of hilarity from Mackey who managed to turn it into a coughing fit.

"I can't think of anything," stammered Sherwood. "I've a few American government bonds and some oil stock that's pretty good."

"That doesn't mean anything to these people," interrupted Mackey in English. "Bestow upon her your diamond studded pocket knife, your silver key ring and your golden pickaxe. Who ever heard of an archaeologist without a pickaxe?"

Sherwood mumbled something that the scribe wrote down. The mullah chanted a blessing. And while the witnesses were signing papers the Princess led Anne to an adjoining room.

"Wait here," she said. "He has the right to see you before he takes you away."

She left as a curtain was drawn aside and Sherwood stepped into the room. He stared at Anne a moment and then came forward.

"Mackey had me going there for a while. Then I was told to come in here and look you over and see if you came up to specifications." He threw back her veil. "Not such a homely face--when the paint comes off."

"But I have a mole," she confessed, entering the game.

"Where?" he demanded indignantly.

"On my left shoulder blade." He put an arm around her and pressed his fingers against her back. "Here?"

"About."

"Now, have you any good points? Have you dimpled knees?"

"I'm not that fat," she repudiated indignantly.

"All right with me," he hastily assured her. "Say 'ah'." She complied. He nodded. "Tongue pink as a pepper. You'll do."

He put his other arm around her and stood looking at her for a moment in silence.

"Why don't you want me to kiss you?" he asked gently. She began to tremble. "I don't know. Maybe it's this horrible place we're in."

He stepped back and took her hand. "Let's go."

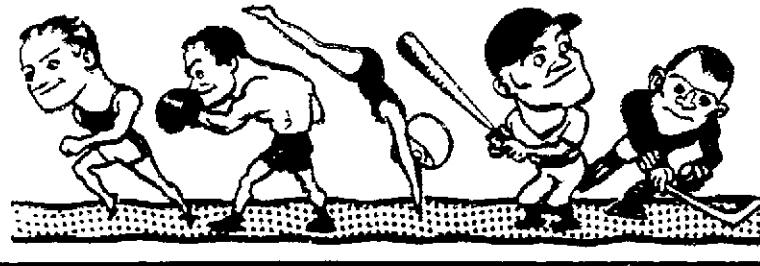

"I must go first to a black traveling veil." He left her. To be continued

National Forge Cops Two Games From St. Marys Colts

"Diz" Hines Shines In First Go; "Red" Whitford Is Victim

The National Forge and Ordnance baseball team did yesterday at Wilder Field, what diamond combinations in this section have longed to do but seldom have accomplished, beat the St. Marys Colts in both ends of a double-header.

Before a Memorial Day crowd of some four hundred fans, the Irvine crew beat "Red" Whitford, Colts' southpaw ace and veteran of many diamond wars, 4 to 2 in the opener, and then came back to beat the St. Marys tossers in the nightcap 7-7, though out-hit in both contests.

"Diz" Hines and Hank Wise teamed up to hurl the Forgers to victory in the first fracas, fanning ten, giving up only eight hits, and passing only two batters.

In the windup, Caffrey tossed six innings of the ball and then Gallagher relieved him with the score 9 to 2 in the Forgers' favor. The Colts closed the gap somewhat, but Gallagher managed to hold on to the lead and the game.

Ray Wortman, Colts' shortstop, hit a home run in the second game for the only circuit clout of the day. Hines smacked a three base hit into left field in the first for the Forgers' big blow of the afternoon.

Another doubleheader is scheduled for Wilder Field next Sunday, June 8, when the Lindy-Miles Co. ball club, from Endicott, N. Y., will cross bats with Irvine.

STATE HOSPITAL DOWNS LUDLOW WILDCATS, 8-4

"Rabbit" Swanson's State Hospital outfit got fourteen hits off Anderson, Ludlow hurler yesterday at the Ludlow ball park to win an 8 to 4 victory.

The veterans Myron Jewell and Mike Solock led the way with three hits apiece in five times at bat, Jewell including a double in his trio. Swanson and Harold Brown each connected for a pair of safeties.

The Hospital settled the issue in the third inning with a five run barrage and then coasted to the decision, adding a run in each of the fifth, seventh and eighth stanzas.

Ludlow scored three times in the third but followed up with only one more run in the fifth inning.

N. Y. U. Favored To Win IG4A Gontalon

New York, May 31.—(P)—The New York University Violets appeared on the verge today of winning their first intercollegiate outdoor track and field championship, after making practically a shambles of the I. C. A. trials yesterday at Tiborough Stadium.

The Violets, competing against 40 other colleges, placed 11 men in the finals and semi-finals—not counting various events in which preliminaries were not necessary. The experts considered them virtually a shoo-in for the title won last year by Pittsburgh.

The big ace, young Leslie Mac-Mitchell, was expected to win both the mile and the half-mile in a breeze.

Pennsylvania had nine survivors from yesterday's trials while Penn State, Pittsburgh, Yale and Boston College boasted seven each.

New York, May 31.—Mike Jacobs (and he's the boss, boys) has ruled there'll be no Billy Soose. Tony Zale fight to clear up the middleweight middle—for the simple reason that Soose is pledged to give Ken Overlin a return shot first....Fort Worth expects to shatter all previous endurance records for the national open—4,500 tickets already sold. The Detroit Tigers still insist Bobby Feller is trained down too finely but they aren't getting any seconds from the other American League clubs....Pete Reiser, who is sparking the Dodgers, attributes his success to a few minutes of advice distanced out by Bill Terry of the Giants before an exhibition game last spring.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

Though he last fought in this country in 1938, when Joe Louis knocked him out in the first round and because of that his portion of the fistic spotlight being taken by new heavyweight title contenders, the boxing world has lost one of its most outstanding figures in the passing of Max Schmeling, former world's heavyweight champion who was reported killed in the German invasion of Crete by the Associated Press last Thursday. Perhaps Schmeling never ranked among the five greatest titleholders in modern ring history, but the fights in which he engaged served fans of fistiana with plenty of spot food to chew on, and made Max a popular fellow. He won the title in an elimination bout with Jack Sharkey in 1930 after Gene Tunney had retired and abandoned the crown. The story of that fight will never die, because Sharkey lost that night to Schmeling on a foul.

In 1932 Sharkey and Schmeling met again, and this time the German was decimated by the Boston job over the fifteen-round route, losing his championship. After that, little was heard of Max until 1937, when he mixed with Joe Louis, then just an up-and-coming heavyweight. That night will always be remembered too, for Schmeling astounded the boxing world with a 12 round knockout over Louis who hadn't been beaten and had a very long string of kayos behind him. Winning that one scap made Schmeling one of the fan-fair boys of Cauliflower Alley. Then came 1938 and a June title shot with Louis, who in the meantime had become champion. Louis never let Schmeling get set and the result was a quick end in the first round. Schmeling planned to fight some more in the United States but he returned to Germany and could never get back the war breaking out, and Maxie volunteering for the air force.

Well, that ended the Rhinelanders' rather brief but blazing ring campaign up in the big time, but it didn't end his story. Nothing much has been heard from or about him since the outbreak of the war. Not until the report of his death swept across the country and left sport fans spellbound. In the ring Schmeling was a good fighter, a hard fighter, and on the battlefield it seems he was the same. So ends the story of Germany's idol of Swat who gave his heart away in the ring and his life in fighting for his country. Schmeling is gone, but he'll never be forgotten.

Quickies
Miami Rose won the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis yesterday, but his heart wasn't fully in it. He was driving relief as you've probably learned by this time. We're figuring up those high school batting averages and they're so high they look like current food prices....Will have them by Monday or Tuesday. Did you know that a gentleman named Jim Figg was the first heavyweight champion on record though not recognized in the modern records? He was champion from 1719 until 1730 when he finally retired. And figuring from 1719, Joe Louis will be the last fourth champ to retire when, as and if....

ROSE AND DAVIS Athletics Win Dual SHARE GLORY IN Bill; Chisox Spank 500-MILE RACE Tribe To Near Top

Associated Press Sports Writer

Memorial Day proved once again that a lot of fans like their baseball in double doses 220,830 spectators jamming the parks in eight major league cities for the traditional holiday doubleheaders.

It also uncovered the almost forgotten fact that the St. Louis Cardinals can be beaten even though this point was proved only with difficulty.

The Cardinals captured their first game 4-1 to extend their winning streak to 11 but they finally were nosed out by the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 in a 13-inning nightcap.

Harry Gumbert won his fourth straight contest as a Cardinal in the opener pitching four-hit ball and clotting a two-run homer. In the overtime game relief hurler Blaney Rudder outpitched Ira Hutchinson till Frank McCormick knocked home the winning run with a double.

The second-place Brooklyn Dodgers ran their string to seven by crushing the New York Giants, 5-0 and 6-2 before the day's biggest crowd 39,487 at the Polo Grounds. Whitlow Wyatt pitched five-hit ball for his eighth victory in the opener and the Dodgers exploded a five-run rally in the ninth inning to bag the second game.

The Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phillies broke their losing strings at the expense of each other. After losing six straight, the Phils took the first game, 6-5, and increased Boston's chain of losses to eight. The Braves put a stop to this by taking the second game 4-1, with Lefty Art Johnson pitching five hit-ball and fanning eight in his first major league start.

The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates also divided. Triples by Phil Cavaretta and Bob Shuman, each with two on, helped the Cubs win the first game, 7-6. Then Rip Sewell who had been belted out of the box in the opener, came back in relief to win the nightcap 3-4 hitting a double and scoring the deciding run himself in the ninth.

Chicago's miraculous White Sox cut down the American League leading Cleveland Indians twice, 7-1 and 5-2, to reduce the margin between them to two games. Old Ted Lyons pitched five-hit ball for his fifth win against one defeat in the first game and Lefty Thornton Lee produced a six-hitter in the second session.

Indianapolis, May 31.—(P)—There was some question today as to how formal credit would be distributed for the two-man victory of Mauri Rose and Floyd Davis in the 29th annual 500-mile Memorial Day automobile race.

Rose a trouble-shooter in an Indianapolis airplane motor plant, drove the winning car the last 222 miles after Davis a Springfield, Ill., contractor, had qualified and started the car. The winning machine averaged 115 1/2 miles an hour, the second fastest time in the race's history.

Rose's original car with which he captured the pole position, was forced out by carburetor trouble at 152 miles. Then he shifted to the four-cylinder speedster driven by Davis.

Rev. Mavis Glendale Calif. repeated as runner up with an average of 111 1/2 and Ted Horn Patterson, N. Y., was third with a speed of 113 1/2.

Others to share an approximately $100,000 of prize money to be distributed among the first ten finishers were

Rank	Name	City	Time
1	Mauri Rose	Indianapolis	10:56:28 ninth
2	Floyd Davis	Indianapolis	10:56:28 ninth
3	Ted Horn	Patterson, N. Y.	11:01:52 tenth
4	Rev. Mavis	Glendale, Calif.	11:05:15 tenth
5	Chet Miller	Detroit	11:19:21 sixth
6	Harry McQuinn	Indianapolis	11:19:38 seventh

National Forge Cops Two Games From St. Marys Colts

"Diz" Hines Shines In First Go; "Red" Whitford Is Victim

The National Forge and Ordinance baseball team did yesterday at Wilder Field, what diamond combinations in this section have longed to do but seldom have accomplished, beat the St. Marys Colts in both ends of a doubleheader.

Before a Memorial Day crowd of some four hundred fans, the Irvine crew beat "Red" Whitford, Colts' southpaw ace and veteran of many diamond wars, 4 to 2 in the opener, and then came back to belittle two St. Marys tossers in the nightcap 9-7, though out-hit in both contests.

"Diz" Hines and Hank Wise teamed up to hurl the Forgers to victory in the first fracas, fanning ten, giving up only eight hits, and passing only two batters.

In the windup, Caffrey tossed six innings of fine ball and then Gagliardi relieved him, with the score 9 to 2 in the Forge's favor. The Colts closed the game somewhat, but Gagliardi managed to hold on to the lead and the game.

Ray Wortman, Colts' shortstop, hit a home run in the second game for the only circuit clout of the day. Hines smacked a three base hit into left field in the first for the Forgers' big blow of the afternoon.

Another doubleheader is scheduled for Wilder Field next Sunday, June 8, when the Lindy-Miles Co. ball club, from Endicott, N. Y., will cross bats with Irvine.

STATE HOSPITAL DOWNS LUDLOW WILDCATS, 8-4

"Rabbit" Swanson's State Hospital outfit got fourteen hits off Anderson, Ludlow hurler, yesterday at the Ludlow ball park to win an 8 to 4 victory.

The veterans Myron Jewell and Mike Solock led the way with three hits apiece in five times at bat, Jewell including a double in his trio. Swanson and Harold Brown each connected for a pair of safeties.

The Hospital settled the issue in the third inning with a five run barrage and then coasted to the decision, adding a run in each of the fifth, seventh and eighth stanzas.

Ludlow scored three times in the third but followed up with only one more run in the fifth inning.

ROSE AND DAVIS Athletics Win Dual SHARE GLORY IN Bill; Chisox Spank 500-MILE RACE Tribe To Near Top

Indianapolis, May 31.—(P)—There was some question today as to how formal credit would be distributed for the two-man victory of Mauri Rose and Floyd Davis in the 29th annual 500-mile Memorial Day automobile race.

Rose, a trouble-shooter in an Indianapolis airplane motor plant, drove the winning car the last 22 1/2 miles after Davis, a Springfield, Ill., contractor, had qualified and started the car. The winning machine averaged 115.117 miles an hour, the second fastest time in the race's history.

Rose's original car, with which he captured the pole position, was forced out by carburetor trouble at 152 miles. Then he shifted to the four-cylinder speedster driven by Davis.

Rex Mays, Glendale, Calif., repeated as runner-up with an average of 114.813 and Ted Horn, Patterson, N. J., was third with a speed of 113.864.

Others to share in approximately $100,000 of prize money to be distributed among the first ten finishers were:

Ralph Hepburn, Los Angeles, 113.630, fourth.

Cliff Bergere, Hollywood, Calif., 113.528, fifth.

Chet Miller, Detroit, 111.921, sixth.

Harry McQuinn, Indianapolis, 111.798, seventh.

Frank Wearne, Pasadena, Calif., 110.777, eighth.

Paul Russo, Kenosha, Wis., 105.628, ninth.

Tommy Hinnershitz, Reading, Pa., 105.152, tenth.

Nineteen starters fell by the tracksides, victims of mechanical trouble or accidents. Everett Saylor of Dayton, O., only first-time starter, was the most severely hurt in accidents. He was reported in "fair" condition early today at Methodist Hospital.

Memorial Day proved once again that a lot of fans like their baseball in double doses. 228,830 spectators jamming the parks in eight major league cities for the traditional holiday doubleheaders.

It also uncovered the almost forgotten fact that the St. Louis Cardinals can be beaten, even though this point was proved only with difficulty.

The Cardinals captured their first game, 4-1, to extend their winning streak to 11, but they finally were nosed out by the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, in a 13-inning nightcap.

Harry Gumbert won his fourth straight contest as a Cardinal in the opener, pitching four-hit ball and clotting a two-run homer. In the overtime game relief hurler Elmer Riddle outpitched Ira Hutchinson till Frank McCormick knocked home the winning run with a double.

The second-place Brooklyn Dodgers ran their string to seven by crushing the New York Giants, 8-0 and 6-2, before the day's biggest crowd, 59,457 at the Polo Grounds. Whitlow Wyatt pitched five-hit ball for his eighth victory in the opener and the Dodgers exploded a five-run rally in the ninth inning to bag the second game.

The Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phillies broke their losing strings at the expense of each other. After losing six straight, the Phils took the first game, 6-5, and increased Boston's chain of losses to eight. The Braves put a stop to this by taking the second game, 4-1, with Lefty Johnson pitching five hit-ball and fanning eight in his first major league start.

The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates also divided. Triples by Phil Cavarretta and Bob Sturgeson, each with two on, helped the Cubs win the first game, 7-6. Then Rip Sewell, who had been belted out of the box in the opener, came back in relief to win the nightcap, 5-4, hitting a double and scoring the deciding run himself in the ninth.

Chicago's miraculous White Sox cut down the American League leading Cleveland Indians twice, 7-1 and 5-2, to reduce the margin between them to two games. Old Ted Lyons pitched five-hit ball for his fifth win against one defeat in the first game and Lefty Thornton Lee produced a six-hitter in the second session.

N. Y. U. Favored To Win IC4A Gontalon

New York, May 31.—(P)—The New York University Violets appeared on the verge today of winning their first intercollegiate outdoor track and field championship, after making practically a shambles of the I. C. 4-A trials yesterday at Triborough Stadium.

The Violets, competing against 40 other colleges, placed 11 men in the finals and semi-finals—nearly counting various events in which preliminaries were not necessary. The experts considered them virtually a shoo-in for the title won last year by Pittsburgh.

The big ace in N. Y. U.'s hand today was young Leslie MacMittell. Les was expected to win both the mile and the half-mile in a breeze.

Pennsylvania had nine survivors from yesterday's trials, while Penn State, Pittsburgh, Yale and Boston College boasted seven each.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, May 31.—Morty Jacobs (and he's the boss) has ruled there'll be no Billy Soose. Tony Zale fight to clear up the middleweight middle—for the simple reason that Soose is pledged to give Ken Overlin a return shot first. . . . Fort Worth expects to shatter all previous attendance records for the national open—4,500 tickets already sold. . . . The Detroit Tigers still insist Bobby Feiler is trained down too finely, but they aren't getting any seconds from the other American League clubs. . . . Pete Reiser, who is sparking the Dodgers, attributes his success to a few minutes of advice dished out by Bill Terry of the Giants before an exhibition game last spring.

Today's Guest Star

Art Cohn, Oakland, Tribune: "Seems to me that a bout in which the Messrs. Louis and Baer heard a bell that did not ring in the first round and Mr. Donovan did not hear a bell that did ring in the sixth, should be called nobel prize fight."

Caught On The Fly

The Messrs. Rene Cortes, Willard Marshall and Connie Ryan of the Atlanta Crackers don't know it yet, but they'll be Yankee farmhands next summer—probably at Newark. . . . Bob Pastor returns to the fistic wars at Griffith Stadium.

Pony League

Olean 5, Jamestown 3 (11 innings, night).

Batavia-Hamilton—rain.

Bradford-London—rain.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

Though he last fought in this country in 1938, when Joe Louis knocked him out in the first round, and because of that his portion of the fistic spotlight being taken by new heavyweight title contenders, the boxing world has lost one of its most outstanding figures in the passing of Max Schmeling, former world's heavyweight champion, who was reported killed in the German invasion of Crete by the Associated Press last Thursday. Perhaps Schmeling never ranked among the five greatest titleholders in modern ring history, but the fights in which he engaged served fans of fistiana with plenty of sport food to chew on, and made Max a popular fellow. He won the title in an elimination bout with Jack Sharkey in 1930, after Gene Tunney had retired and abandoned the crown. The story of that fight will never die, because Sharkey lost that night to Schmeling on a foul.

In 1932 Sharkey and Schmeling met again, and this time the German was decisively by the Boston gob over the fifteen-round route, losing his championship. After that, little was heard of Maxie until 1937, when he mixed with Joe Louis, then just an up-and-coming heavyweight. That night will always be remembered, too, for Schmeling astounded the boxing world with a 12-round knockout over Louis, who hadn't been beaten and had a very long string of kayos behind him. Winning that one scrap made Schmeling one of the fair-haired boys of Cauliflower Alley. Then came 1938 and a June title shot with Louis, who in the meantime had become champion. Louis never let Schmeling get set and the result was a quick end in the first round. Schmeling planned to fight some more in the United States, but he returned to Germany and could never get back, the war breaking out, and Maxie volunteering for the air force.

Well, that ended the Rhinelander's rather brief but blazing ring campaign up in the big time, but it didn't end his story. Nothing much has been heard from or about him since the outbreak of the war. Not until the report of his death swept across the country and left sport fans spellbound. In the ring, Schmeling was a good fighter, a hard fighter, and on the battlefield it seems he was the same. So ends the story of Germany's Idol of Swat, who gave his heart away in the ring and his life in fighting for his country. Schmeling is gone, but he'll never be forgotten.

Quickies. . . . Mauri Rose won the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis yesterday, but his heart wasn't fully in it. . . . He was driving relief, as you've probably learned by this time. . . . We're figuring up those high school batting averages and they're so high they look like current food prices. . . . Will have them by Monday or Tuesday. . . . Did you know that a gentleman named Jim Figg was the first heavyweight champion on record, though not recognized in the modern records? . . . He was champion from 1719 until 1730, when he finally retired. . . . And figuring from 1719, Joe Louis will be the thirteenth champ to retire when, as and if. . . .

lum, Washington, June 16 against Buddy Knox, although why the guy should be a drawing card, we don't know. . . . We ran into Horace Stoneham in a night spot and he swears he's ready to take the rubber off his back for any time the other clubs will talk business with Terry. . . . Truth is, Terry was so high and mighty when he was winning that none of the other clubs want to give him a break. . . . Ace Parker's broken ankle is mending nicely and he'll definitely be back in the football Dodgers' line-up this fall.

The Round-Up

Down in Mississippi they are wondering why every first-class high school football prospect (except two) is headed for Mississippi. . . . This fall instead of for Mississippi State, which had the last Orange Bowl winner. . . . Of course, the fact that Mike Conner, czar of the Southeastern Conference, is an alumnus of Ole Miss couldn't have anything to do with it.

Couple Of Couplets

No wonder Bucky doesn't rate. His Nats have lost a dozen straight. The Dodgers twice defeat the Giants. And Flatbush drinks their health in pints. (x) (x) Repeated by request.

MARCONI SEASON OPENS

Former high school stars sponsored by the Marconi Club will trek to Clarion tomorrow afternoon for their first game of the season. Included on the roster are Brown, Clawson, Dahler, Martin, Bonavita, Johnson, Aikens, Riggs, Jack and Floyd Kifer. Dick Kifer, ace Dragon hurler, will be added to the lineup as soon as school vacates for the summer.

Waialeale Mountain in the Hawaiian Islands is believed the wettest place in the world, with an average of 460 inches of rain a year.

Although Alexandria, Egypt, is situated on the edge of the Nile delta, it escapes heavy silt deposits because of favorable ocean currents.

Denver, Colo., is known as "The Mile High City."

Tidioute
Tidioute, May 27—The commencement exercises for the seniors of the Tidioute High School will be held Friday evening, June 6, in the high school auditorium.
The senior class of the Tidioute High School will spend Wednesday and Thursday at Buffalo and Niagara Falls. They will be accompanied by Miss Dorothy Stout, Miss Emily Carpenter and Charles Anderson.
A pleasant evening was spent at the community house Wednesday evening when the Ladies Aid of the church held a miscellaneous show, honoring Mr. and Mrs. William McGraw, who were married recently. They received many beautiful and useful gifts for their home.
The ladies of the Rebekah Lodge of Tidioute gave a party and turkey dinner Tuesday evening, honoring their members who had birthday anniversaries during the month of May.
Mrs. C. C. Grettenberger was in Warren Tuesday to help celebrate her grandson, Jon Biekar's birthday anniversary.
Next Thursday evening, May 29, will be the closing of the midweek services of the Presbyterian church until autumn. The service will also be preparatory to the observance of the Lord's Supper in the church Sunday, June 1.
The baccalaureate services will be held Sunday evening, June 1, in the Methodist church.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Floyd Stevenson and son, of Warren, were Monday visitors of the Karl Grettenbergers.
Mrs. and Mr. C. P. Merkle, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Kinneer, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Uller and son, Charles, spent Sunday in Harrisville, guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Merkle.
Prof. I. J. Hoff, of Warren, was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Grettenberger and family.
Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Esterbrook, of Oil City, are guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Williams.
Paul Steffeny, attorney, was a weekend visitor of Joe Pequinot.

Wild Disorder is Reported in City of Baghdad

The armistice request was said to have been made within the past 48 hours, apparently by a committee of four in control of Baghdad.

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch earlier said Arab irregulars, looting and firing their rifles in the streets, had caused wild disorders in Baghdad as British troops approached the city.

London Concedes Situation on the Island is Critical

(From Page One) concerned, the battle was decided. In screaming headlines, they told their readers: "Enemy on Crete Defeated, Victory is Ours."

German dive-bombers were said to have swarmed over the island yesterday, smashing at the British wherever they could be found. Troop concentrations in the mountainous interior and on the southern coast were bombed and broken up, informed Germans said.

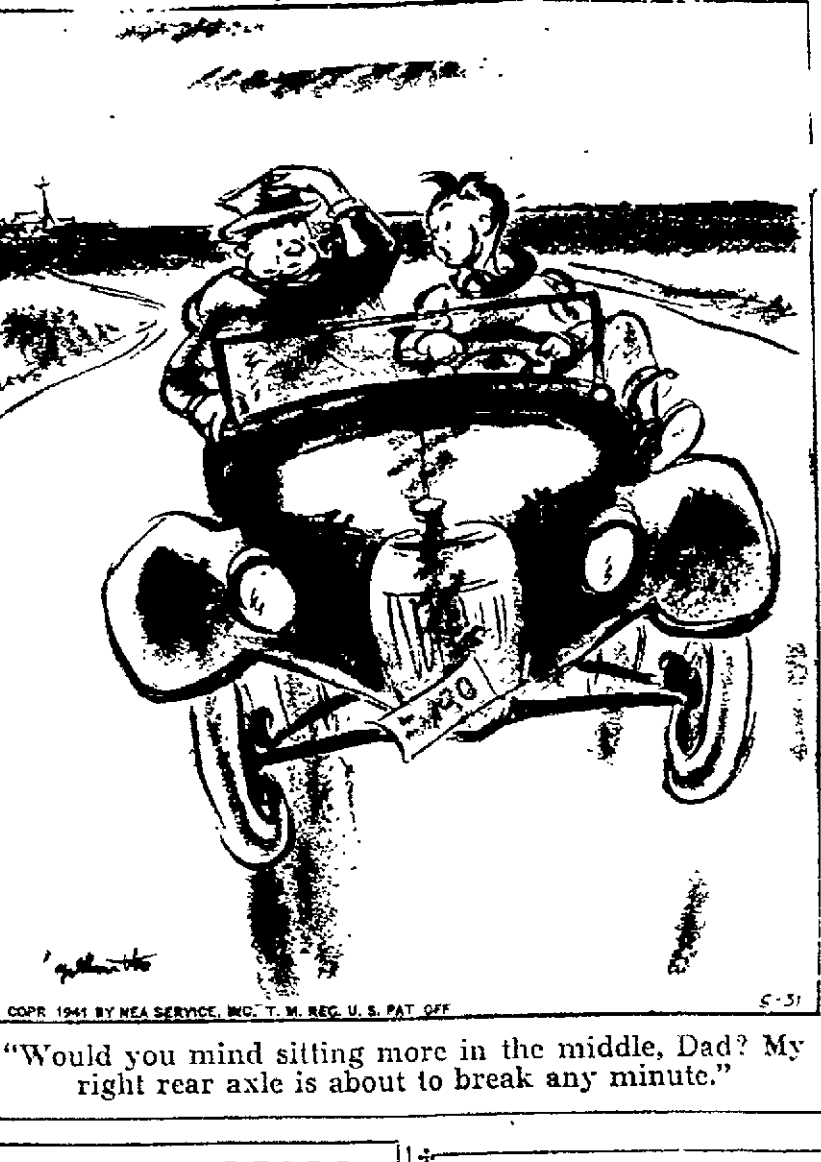

All the same, a German military spokesman said there still was a question what British and Greek troops hemmed in on the southern part of the island would do.

Labor Dispute In Northwest

(From Page One) mandated that the union officials submit to their members the issue of returning to work pending a settlement with the employers.

The board already has recommended that work be resumed while a fact-finding commission makes a survey of labor conditions in the Pacific coast lumber industry.

Union officials replied that they had no authority to accept the board's proposal.

The armistice request was said to have been made within the past 48 hours, apparently by a committee of four in control of Baghdad.

German airplanes and ground personnel still may be in Iraq, one source said, but he declared the flight of Premier Rashid Ali Al Ghalibi to Iran (Persia) and not to the Germans in Mosul "shows the faith he places in the protection the Germans can give him."

"It is now clear to the entire world," he said, "that any dispute in Iraq is not between the Arab world and Great Britain but between us and the Germans."

This source attributed what he called Nazi failure "to fan this Iraq rebellion into something very much bigger" largely to "the splendid fight our troops have put up in Crete."

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch earlier said Arab irregulars, looting and firing their rifles in the streets, had caused wild disorders in Baghdad as British troops approached the city.

The board already has recommended that work be resumed while a fact-finding commission makes a survey of labor conditions in the Pacific coast lumber industry.

Union officials replied that they had no authority to accept the board's proposal.

This was the major Memorial Day labor development, but elsewhere two settlements were reached in differences over wages while another was the return to work of hundreds of Phoenix Iron Co. employees who had been on strike for 16 days at the Phoenixville, Pa., plant.

Order For Alert Not Explained

Sheriff John Heinz instructed his force to be "especially careful" and said he is notifying the 1,000 members of the Allegheny county home defense corps to be prepared for emergencies. Heinz said he was notified by the naval intelligence office to establish the "alert."

"Nothing happened," Thornton said, "but we'll continue to be watchful."

City police posted a 24-hour guard at a steel mill in the Lawrenceville district at the request of plant officials who asked the police protection because the mill was closed for the holiday.

Thirty Dead in Raid on Dublin

(From Page One) three fell then, police surmised that an anti-aircraft shell might have struck a plane, causing it to lose its bombs. They expressed doubt the bombing was intentional.

Two of the bombs fell on north-side residential areas, demolishing homes for a distance of about 200 feet and burying their occupants. The third destroyed a number of shops about a half-mile from the center of the city.

MORE PRODUCTS ADDED TO LIST BY SMA BUREAU

Fresh snap beans and fresh cabbage have been added to the official surplus list for the month of June, it was announced today by John F. Conaboy, area supervisor for the Surplus Marketing Administration in northwestern Pennsylvania. Fifteen food items, including fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy products, and meats have been placed on the new list of surplus commodities which will be available during the period June 1 to June 30 to families in Crawford, Erie, Mercer, Venango and Warren counties taking part in the Food Stamp Plan.

Mr. Conaboy said that butter and fresh carrots had been removed from the official list for the month of June. He cautioned families participating in the Food Stamp Plan not to exchange free blue stamps for these two food items.

The new surplus list effective June 1 to June 30, inclusive, is as follows: fresh snap beans, fresh cabbage, fresh grapefruit, fresh oranges, fresh apples, Irish potatoes, shell eggs, pork lard, pork (except that cooked or packed in metal or glass containers), corn meal, dried prunes, raisins, hominy (corn), grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour and whole wheat (Graham) flour. Retail food merchants are requested to destroy the white May bulletin and to post conspicuously the yellow June bulletin in their stores.

Attractive Colored Map-Folder Issued By the Roosevelt Highway Association

U.S. 6 Roosevelt Highway

(Special correspondence to the Times-Mirror)

Des Moines, Iowa, May 31—One of the great east-west travel routes of the United States is U. S. 6 Roosevelt highway shown on the map above. The road passes directly through our city.

With foreign travel practically cut off, the American tourist is going to spend all his money at home; and the officials of the highway advise that travel this year already exceeds that of any previous season at this early date.

The highway association has just issued for free distribution, a handsome map-folder printed in four colors and showing in attractive form the road in detail from coast-to-coast. The map-folders are furnished without charge to all waiting for same; and tourists, bureaus, motor clubs, and oil stations desiring a supply, or individuals wishing them, may obtain same by writing the association's offices at Des Moines, Iowa.

The highway, extending under a single federal number from coast to coast abounds with views of scenic and historic places, and avoids the congested traffic of the great cities by passing close to, but not through them.

Western headquarters of the association is the Coliseum Building, Des Moines, Iowa; and the eastern headquarters is the Chamber of Commerce Building, Scranton, Penna.

Calvary Baptist to Hold Bible School From June 9 to 20

Preparations are almost completed for the daily vacation Bible school to be conducted from June 9 to 20 at the Calvary Baptist church and all indications point toward a highly successful school.

The staff feels that it is particularly fortunate in securing Miss Constance Swanson, of St. Paul, Minn., to assist in the work. She is a student at Bethel Institute and has had a great deal of experience in vacation Bible school work. She is a very capable chalk-talk artist and has had considerable experience with "flannel-graphs," one of the latest methods of visual education. Miss Swanson is coming to Warren as a guest of Grant Samuelson, local young man who is a ministerial student at Bethel Seminary.

Children of the school are promised ten very enjoyable sessions, with Bible lessons, handwork, songs, games, chalk talks, flannel-graphs, stories and some surprises. Parents are urged to encourage their children to attend, especially the first day. After that, the staff believes they will not want to miss a day.

Registration blanks are being distributed and anyone interested in enrolling is asked to call Clarence O. Swanson, 487-M, if blanks are not received.

LOCAL FARMERS PARTICIPATE IN VOTE ON WHEAT

Six Warren county farmers are among 18,526 in Pennsylvania who may cast their votes today in a nation-wide referendum to decide whether the federal government should limit the 1941-42 wheat crop. Less than a third of the state's total are expected to vote on the question, however, according to agricultural authorities.

Those who do vote are expected to approve the government regulation by a comfortable margin, authorities said. Authorization of government control requires approval of two thirds of the nation's farmers raising more than 15 acres of wheat.

James E. Walker, chairman of the state agricultural conservation committee, in charge of the referendum in Pennsylvania, said a light vote is expected due to the fact that farmers are "extremely busy at the present time and in some cases may have to travel quite a distance."

Farmers unable to go to the polls, however, may mail ballots to their county committee providing the vote is received by 8:30 a. m. Monday. Polls were ordered open from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. today or later if need be. Warren county voters will cast their ballots at the court house.

If farmers turn down the quota regulation the government will not make loans on the present wheat crop.

Following are some nearby counties with the number of farmers in each who are eligible to vote: Clarion, 61; Crawford, 20; Erie, 57; Forest, 3; Mercer, 29; Venango, 15.

MORE PRODUCTS ADDED TO LIST BY SMA BUREAU

Fresh snap beans and fresh cabbage have been added to the official surplus list for the month of June. It was announced today by John F. Conaboy, area supervisor for the Surplus Marketing Administration in northwestern Pennsylvania. Fifteen food items, including fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy products, and meats have been placed on the new list of surplus commodities which will be available during the period June 1 to June 30 to families in Crawford, Erie, Mercer, Venango and Warren counties taking part in the Food Stamp Plan.

Mr. Conaboy said that butter and fresh carrots had been removed from the official list for the month of June. He cautioned families participating in the Food Stamp Plan not to exchange free blue stamps for these two food items.

The new surplus list effective June 1 to June 30 inclusive, is as follows: fresh snap beans, fresh cabbage, fresh grapefruit, fresh oranges, fresh apples, Irish potatoes, shell eggs, pork lard, pork (except that cooked or packed in metal or glass containers), corn meal, dried prunes, raisins, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour and whole wheat (Graham) flour.
